Defense Eyes New Trial In Sirhan's Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury believed Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's mind was impaired, says juror George Stitzel, but not to a degree to affect its verdict—death in the gas chamber for the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

What of the month-long testimony from psychiatrists and psychologists as the defense tried to prove Sirhan lacked the mental capacity to form a mature and meaningful plot against Kennedy?

"It stunk—I don't buy that stuff," said Albert N. Federico, another juror. He expressed his view to newsmen after the verdict was announced in court Wednesday.

Stitzel, 57, a pressroom foreman at the Los Angeles Times, was asked: What was the overriding consideration that made him vote the death penalty?

"The gravity of the crime," he told newsmen. "The cold-blooded murder of an individual. A planned murder."

Did he believe the jury would have decreed death if the victim had not been Kennedy, a candidate for president? "I think we would . . . as long as it was this cold-blooded, heinous crime."

Other jurors said the same thing.

By most jurors' accounts, the first vote was eight in favor of the death penalty, two in favor of life in prison, and two undecided. For the next two ballots it was 10 for death, one for life, one undecided. The fourth ballot, on Wednesday morning, was unanimous. The original holdouts were not identified.

Under California law, the same jury which finds a defendant guilty sets the penalty in a later trial. Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker set May 14 for the formal sentencing. State law provides for an automatic review in capital punishment cases and Sirhan's lawyers have said they will move for a new trial. Judge Walker also has the power to reduce the penalty to life in prison.

SIRHAN B. SIRHAN
Sentenced To Death.

Grant Cooper, chief defense lawyer, said the appeal would be taken of both the first-degree murder verdict and the death sentence. He said there would be three major points:

—That Judge Walker did not exercise discretion in rejecting a pretrial deal allowing Sirhan to plead guilty to first - degree murder and be sentenced to life. Walker insisted the case was too important worldwide to be set-

B52s Bomb Enemy Bases In Heaviest Raid Of War

Giant Craft Strike Near Cambodia

Attacks Are Aimed Primarily At Two Hanoi Divisions

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers made their heaviest raids of the Vietnam war Wednesday night near the Cambodian border, dropping more than 2,000 tons of bombs along a 30-mile stretch northwest of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported.

The targets of the giant Stratofortresses were enemy bases in the Viet Cong's War Zone C, where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have built a network of camouflaged roads and infiltration routes on which to move supplies and troops from Cambodia into Vietnam. Some of the bombing was within a mile and a half of the border.

The air attacks were aimed primarily at the North Vietnamese 1st and 7th divisions, which reportedly have pulled back to the border to receive replacements for heavy losses suffered during the Viet Cong's spring offensive, now in its ninth week.

The targets in War Zone C were given top priority, and B52 raids on the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos were temporarily curtailed to permit a heavier concentration against the Canbodian border bases.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong offensive dwindled to 11 rocket and mortar attacks Wednesday night, with over-all damage and casualties reported light as usual.

Ground fighting again was scattered, but in one fierce clash Wednesday five miles south of the demilitarized zone, eight U.S. Marines were killed and 19 wounded by North Vietnamese troops firing heavy weapons from caves. The bodies of 14 North Vietnamese were found after the fight.

Two more U.S. helicopters were shot down Wednesday, killing nine Americans and wounding three. This raised the

U.S. Offers New Troop Pullout Plan

Urges Hanoi Join In Withdrawal Of 'Outside Forces'

PARIS (AP) — The United States today urged North Vietnam to join in practical steps immediately to begin withdrawing outside forces of both sides from South Vietnam.

Speaking at the 14th enlarged session of the Vietnam peace talks, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared that this could start a series of events to end the war. He said he saw "no good reason why that process should not begin soon."

North Vietnam representative Xuan Thuy, however, replied that the only foreign troops in South Vietnam were those of the United States and its allies and what is needed is their withdrawal.

Thuy's statement seemed to rebuff, at least for the present, Lodge's appeal to end "historical" exchanges and get down to practical problems.

Tran Buu Kiem, representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, also continued to press a hard-line policy. He insisted that the way to end the war was for the United States to withdraw its forces and stop clinging to the present Saigon administration.

The U.S. representative said the talks had spent 13 weeks going into the history of the Vietnam conflict and that it is now time to begin serious negotiations.

"Let us, therefore, now get down to the task of bringing the war in Vietnam to an end," he said. "Let us seek practical solutions to practical problems.

"There is one practical step, which both sides can take, that would go a long way to bring the fighting to an end. That step is for the external forces on both sides to begin the process of withdrawal from South Vietnam."

Lodge repeated that the United States is "prepared to begin the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam simultaneously with the external forces on your side."

Lodge said he saw no reason why the military and political aspects of a settlement could not be worked out at the same time. He stressed the word "practical" several times in his statement.

In an apparent reference to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong objections to negotiating with the present Saigon regime,

Industrialists Tour Plant

Some 230 members of the Refractories Institute of America toured Globe Refractories, Inc., near Newell, this morning as guests of William Porter, Globe president, and the Globe staff.

Porter, pointing, explains an automated procedure at the plant to Myron Coleman, left, president of the F. J. Dando Co. of Irondale, and D. J. Stefl, vice president of the Freeport (Pa.) Brick Co., as James Roslund, Globe research director, right, watches.

The institute, a national organization which studies the problems of producers and consumers in the industry, is headed by Max Muller of Cleveland, president of Basic, Inc., of Cleveland. Porter is treasurer and Avery Newton of Pittsburgh is executive secretary.

The tour this morning was followed with a luncheon at the Millsop Community Center in Weirton, hosted by the Weirton Steel Co. Later the group visited the Weirton Steel Co.'s new basic oxygen furnace facility known as the "Mill of the Future."

With the group were institute members from across the nation and from Mexico, Porter said.

New York College Still Closed

Cornell U. Drops Counts Against 3

By The Associated Press

The Cornell University faculty reversed its earlier decision and quashed disorder charges against three Negro students, but the Ithaca, N.Y. campus hasn't returned to normal.

City College of New York remained closed, demonstrations began at two Washington, D.C., universities and Princeton University, while protests continued at some other schools.

About 1,100 faculty members at Cornell reversed their Monday night stand and acceded to the demands of the Afro-American Society, in an attempt to halt fear and tension heightened by a 7,000-student "teach-in" at Barton Hall and the presence near the campus of 245 riot-trained deputy sheriffs.

A number of classes were suspended again today, to permit discussion of issues raised by five days of turmoil, touched off when militant blacks, armed with shotguns and rifles, took over the student center.

President James A. Perkins, who pleaded with the faculty to change its decision, said, "My optimism for the immediate and long-range future of Cornell has enormously increased."

The chairman of the government department, Dr. Allen P. Sindler, submitted his "irrevocable" resignation, and denounced the faculty's reversal as "a complete capitulation to coercion." Other professors complained of threatening

Living Cost Rise Biggest In 18 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House sources insist last month's jump in living costs—biggest in 18 years—doesn't mean a new twist upward in the inflation spiral.

"We don't foresee an increase in the price trend, we foresee a decrease," said a Nixon administration source. "But this should increase the worry about the state of the economy and the need for economic restraint."

The Labor Department Wednesday reported that the cost of living rose eight-tenths of one per cent in March, the biggest jump since the Korean war year of 1951.

Last month's index was 125.6, meaning it cost $12.56 to buy what $10 would have purchased in typical family goods and services in the 1957-59 base period. A substantial rise was reported for food, clothing and gasoline.

Wholesale prices of foodstuffs and industrial raw materials also rose sharply, five-tenths of one-percent, bringing that index to 111.7, a rise of 3.2 per cent in a year.

"During the first quarter of this year, consumer prices rose 1.5 per cent, the sharpest rate of advance for any three-month period since May-July, 1956," said the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. "The index now stands 5.1 per cent above a year ago."

Allocation Figure Awaited

4 Street Programs Here Qualify For State Funds

City officials have been informed that four proposed highway improvement programs here quualify for state funds from Issue No. 1, approved by Ohio voters last November.

Mayor George Willshaw, City Engineer George Bloomgren and Robert E. Vodrey, safety-service director, were briefed on the aid during a meeting in Columbus Wednesday with Ohio Department of Highways officials.

Willshaw said this morning that the three met with J. W. Wilson, chief engineer for the highway department; Thomas Major, a deputy director in charge of design and location; Sen. Douglas Applegate of Jefferson county, and Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Columbiana County.

The city officials, now awaiting the state formula for distribution of the funds from the bond issue, has proposed that $880,000 be allocated for the four projects here.

Bloomgren said the city added the fourth program to the three proposals outlined last week in a meeting with area legislators — installation of a storm sewer along Pennsylvania Ave. between Dewey and Oakland Aves.

Bloomgren pointed out that previously the storm water had flowed into Columbian Park, but since the area is being filled Pennsylvania Ave. is flooded during heavy rain.

The other three projects include improvement of Shadyside Ave., jointly with the county; widening and surfacing of Maine Blvd., and extension of the Lake - to - River Freeway from Jefferson St. to an interchange at Park Way in the East End.

Bloomgren said the Shadyside Ave. project would total about $150,000. The city would include sidewalks and some additional drainage in its portion of the improvement, but county commissioners feel sidewalks are not necessary along their stretch of roadway.

Maine Blvd. has an estimated price tag of $240,000, although Bloomgren said it might cost more. He added that in addition to the concrete roadway, the city also proposed to elim-

Promises Post Office Dept. Overhaul

Nixon Urges Penny Boost For Mailing Most Letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appealed to Congress today for a penny boost in the cost of mailing most letters and promised to outline a major overhaul of the Post Office Department within 45 days.

In a special message, Nixon proposed increases in rates for first-, second- and third-class mail that he said would yield more than $600 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The first-class letter rate would be boosted one cent to seven cents and stamps for postcards would cost six cents, effective July 1, under his plan.

Airmail rates—now 10 cents —would not be changed.

Without these and other proposed increases—affecting newspapers and magazines and the bulk mailings often termed "junk mail"— Nixon said the Post Office Department's deficit in the coming fiscal year would approach $1.2 billion.

He said higher rates would help achieve two important goals: Control of inflation by bringing the federal budget into better balance and improvement of the postal service.

If approved it would be the fourth postal rate increase since 1958 when the rate went from three to four cents for a letter. The price went up one cent in 1963 and again Jan. 7, 1968.

Although he called for higher rates, Nixon stated: "This administration is determined that the cycle of greater and greater postal deficits and more and more rate increases will be broken."

"The only way to break that cycle is through effective, long-

Yegg 'Scrambled'

Police said Glen Mellon reported that a knife-wielding man in his early 20s approached him in an alley in the rear of Mellon's home as he was returning from a store.

Mellon said the young man demanded money. Mellon replied by hurling a carton of eggs at the bandit, who fled dripping scrambled eggs.

Sheriff Fight Hearing Set For Tuesday

A hearing will be held Tuesday by the West Virginia Supreme Court at Charleston on the latest action in the disputed Hancock County sheriff's race.

Involved is a petition requesting that the high court order the Hancock County Court to reopen hearings into the election of Republican Ralph J. Patrick Jr. to the post.

The action was filed by Democrat Lou Smoleski, who was elected originally last November and then removed from office in favor of Patrick following a recheck of questioned ballots in a Weirton precinct.

Warming Trend Due After Frost Tonight

Frost warnings are out for tonight, but after that the weather is due to take a turn for the better.

Sunny and warmer is the outlook for Friday, with the high in the 60s.

Contract Let On Calcutta's Post Office

The First National Bank has been named the successful bidder on construction and leasing of the planned new Calcutta Post Office.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays announced today the Postal Department has designated the city bank to build and lease the structure.

Robert Boyce, bank president, said plans call for completion of the one - story brick building at the St. Clair Plaza six months after start of construction. The builder will be the Potters Construction Co.

The building will have 3,205 square feet of interior space, with 10,680 square feet of parking. It will be located at the rear of the bank's drive-in facility at the entrance of the Calcutta plaza.

The contract terms are for leasing it from the bank at $7,200 a year for 10 years.

The present postal facility is at the Potters Lumber Co. store at the plaza and is a branch of the city post office. Plans call for the new facility to have its own identity and zip code.

Samuel W. Brown, city postmaster, said the new building is designed to meet the growing needs of the rapidly developing St. Clair district, and will be larger than the present East End branch building.

Brown said the Calcutta building will have boxes for use by the patrons of the area, and that the rural carriers for that district will operate out of the new structure to be closer to those they serve.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

A Tip On Cleaning Plastic

DEAR HELOISE: How can I clean an inexpensive white plastic bag that looks like patent leather? Mine is last year's model and looks awful.

MRS. McCREE.

Heloise

All I can tell you is how I cleaned my pocketbook.

First I used a wash cloth and some warm soapy suds and got off what I could.

Next I poured some lighter fluid (follow CAUTION directions on container — it IS flammable, you know) on two facial tissues and wiped away. And, did it ever clean it! I thought I had a nearly new purse.

About that pinkish stuff on the handle and around the top of the purse. . .the lighter fliud helped remove it but didn't take it all off, so I decided that from now on when I purchase an inexpensive, light-colored, plastic purse that I will clean it each month or so with the fluid.

The lighter fluid did not hurt my plastic. I paid three dollars for the purse and figured I had nothing to lose.

HELOISE.

Anyone who has ever tried to cut an acorn squash in half knows that sometimes it seems almost impossible.

But Heloise, I found a way! Just pre-heat the squash for ten minutes and it's as easy as cutting an orange!

MILDRED NEWMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When a button must be removed from a garment, the task will be simplified, and the possibility of damaging the material will be avoided, if the tines of a fork are inserted between the cloth and the button and a razor blade is used to cut the threads.

MRS. MILTON SUSSMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: We have been having very strong winds lately and our climbing rose broke from its moorings.

Having nothing else on hand I braided three old nylon stockings and tied the plant up with this. Made a beautiful braid and did the job perfectly.

MRS. JOHN NOLEN.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Each morning my houseful of "gremlins" make their beds before they go to school.

They know it's much easier than coming home to find that Mom has made the bed HER WAY.

Whenever Mom finds an unmade bed, she strips it, folds the spread, blankets, sheets and pillowcases and places them neatly at the foot of the gremlin's bed.

It's much simpler to make a bed in the morning than to start from scratch in order to have a bed to sleep in that night.

Hope this may work for other frustrated gremlin trainers.

MAMA GREMLIN.

DEAR HELOISE: Please warn your mothers that baby powder can be very dangerous in the hands of toddlers and infants.

If the powder is accidently spilled on a baby's face, and too much is inhaled, it can cause death.

Always keep powder cans out of the reach of children.

I don't think enough parents are aware of this.

REGISTERED NURSE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cut hard-boiled eggs in half, I always dip my sharpest knife in boiling water first.

Do you know that they won't break or crumble if you do this?

True!

HELOISE.

David Buzzard, 28, of 2859 St. Clair Ave., received word Wednesday that he passed the Ohio bar examination given in March.

He was graduated from Denison University at Granville and Western Reserve University Law School in Cleveland and, since November, has been residing with his parents, Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and Mrs. Buzzard while preparing for the examination.

Three Speakers Are Heard During Ministers' Meeting

Three speakers in various fields addressed members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Wednesday morning at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Allen Conway, president, was in charge.

Leo Lawrence, co - chairman of "Citizens Who Care," stressed the need for renewal of two school levies at the May 6 primary election.

Miss Ann Riedel, county home extension agent, discussed the work of her department, including efforts to assist families in meal planning.

Mrs. J. M. Brand outlined the "Friendly Town" program sponsored by Cleveland's Inner City Protestant Parish. Under the project, children living in inner Cleveland spend 10 days during the summer with suburban and rural families in various parts of Ohio.

The association went on record in support of the levies and voted to contribute $50 to the Citizens Committee for promoting passage.

The association also voted $100 for the Tri - State Hospital Chaplaincy Association for its work at City and the Osteopathic hospitals.

Area clergymen participating in the nationwide consultation on church union will attend the May 28 meeting to discuss further support of the COCU.

Militray Intelligence Setup Questioned By Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., whose investigation of the Pueblo capture has broadened to include the loss of a Navy reconnaissance plane, says he wants to know how the military's intelligence system is run and if it is conducting too many missions.

Pike says there is high-level confusion in the Navy about which intelligence missions need protection. He cited messages about the Pueblo which never reached top commanders and said he wants to know if the same thing happened with the EC121, shot down over the Sea of Japan by North Korean MIGs April 15.

"This incident is one of a package," Pike said. "I have some very fundamental questions on how necessary the volume of our missions is."

Some of those questions may be directed to Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, a scheduled witness when the subcommittee resumes open hearings Friday.

Time lags in reporting such incidents to top officials in Washington are especially vexing, said the New York Democrat, chairman of the House Armed Services special subcommittee on the Pueblo.

The First Hundred Days

It is customary in American politics to give a new president a report card after his first 100 days in office.

As it is used in politics, the phrase "one hundred days" has nothing to do with its grim origin. History's Hundred Days was the period between March 20 and June 28, 1815, the interval between Napoleon Bonaparte's entry into Paris after his escape from Elba and his abdication. The most momentous event of the period was the crucial defeat at Waterloo on June 18.

FOR SOME REASON, American political observers started the hundred-days assessment in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration and the pratice has become traditional.

Perhaps it was the whirlwind of legislation that President Roosevelt herded through the special session of the 73rd Congress that stirred up the political buffs.

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. describes the birth of the New Deal period in these words: "Congress and the country were subjected to a pesidential barrage of ideas and programs unlike anything known to American history."

In his first hundred days, President Roosevelt was given extraordinary powers for combatting the depression and promoting recovery through the passage of 15 major measures.

Almost blind approval was given to Mr. Roosevelt's programs and the National Industrial Recovery Act which was signed on the day the congressional session adjourned, was later struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Close cooperation marked the first hundred days of Harry S. Truman as congress gave him a free hand to carry out foreign policies of the administration.

Only major legislation approved in the first hundred days of President Eisenhower's first term was that creating the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

John F. Kennedy's hundred days in 1961 saw six of 16 major measures requested by the administration clear Congress including the Fair Labor Standards Amendments.

President Johnson, at the end of his first hundred days, was able to assess the record by citing enactment of "10 of the 15 appropriation bills . . . that were carried over from last year . . . the greatest education Congress in the history of our land . . . the new tax (reduction) bill . . . (and) men and women working together."

And while he has not inundated Congress with a flood of proposed legislation, there are few who would fault him so far on his performance.

Mr. Nixon appears to be applying what he learned from President Eisenhower who stressed a more leisurely pace in the White House.

It seems, then, that a mile-long list of legislation is not necessary to a successful first hundred days.

MR. NIXON is being careful in formulating his domestic program but he has been putting a lot of shoulder into the effort to promote understanding with our foreign friends and potential enemies.

In an age when foreign-policy decisions play such a prominent role in shaping the future of the world, ability in the international arena has to be considered in measuring the worth of a president.

A critic of the "old" Nixon, former Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson, has this to say about the President's foreign considerations: "I would give the President a hit for each time he has been at bat in the first hundred days."

It is to the benefit of the world if Mr. Nixon can continue to have a good day at bat in the unpredictable game of politics.

Growing Suburban Problem

The growing problem of private well contamination in suburban and rural areas of the nation was outlined Monday at Pittsburgh for a convention of Pennsylvania township supervisors.

"Of the one million private wells in the state, half are contaminated by sewage," Wesley Gilbertson told the township representatives. He blamed septic tanks in areas of poor soil or congested population.

He declared nearly half of the 25,000 samples of water from private wells sent to his department for testing were found to be contaminated.

His solution: public water supplies and sewage systems on a countywide basis to replace septic tanks and wells.

Columbiana County has already begun to implement such plans which seem to be an obvious need in districts where housing grows apace and water requirements are not being met. Such projects will take considerable financing, as opponents of the St. Clair proposal are aware.

But the health factors and economic development potential in adequate water and sewage facilities are far too important to be written off as unnecessary expenses. Hopefully, the St. Clair district will get water soon, with sewage disposal to follow, and other suburban areas in the tri - state area will continue to lay the foundation for these public programs on which the next generation of citizens depends.

Sound Of Music

If a high school band or chorus is going to sound good, chances are the musicians will be at their best at the spring concert in which the seniors with their experience and mature talent perform their finale.

The familiar marches and bits of overtures are generally interspersed with some lighter selections and touches of novelty and the modern to provide a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

Parents are obligated to attend, but the casual music devotee might discover some worthwhile live entertainment in contrast to the flickering image of TV re-runs by visiting an area high school auditorium this month.

Understanding Prof.

By Art Buchwald

One of the things that impresses people about the student demonstrations is the strong stand that some members of the faculty are taking on the issues.

Art Buchwald

I was on the campus of Northammesty University and ran into a professor who was trying to stop h nose from bleeding. His clothes were torn up and he was walking with a pronounced limp.

"What happened, Professor?" I asked, as I helped him search for this glasses.

"The militant students just took over my office and threw me down the stairs."

"What, that's terrible," I said.

"FROM MY POINT OF VIEW it is but I think we have to look at it from their point of view. Why did they throw me down the stairs? Where have we, as faculty, failed them?"

"Are you going to press charges?"

"On the contrary. If I presssed charges, I would only be playing into the hands of the repressive forces outside the university who would like nothing better than to see the students arrested for assault."

"But they did assault you?"

"Yes. I have to admit I was surprised about that. But there was one heartening note. As they threw me down the stairs, one of the students yelled, 'It isn't you, Professor. It's the system.' "

"THAT MUST HAVE MADE you feel better."

"As I was tumbling down, the thought did occur to me that at least there was nohing personal in it."

"Say, Professor, isn't that the philosophy building going up in flames?"

"I believe it is. Now, why did they have to go and set fire to the philosophy building?"

"I was going to ask you that."

"I'm not quite sure but I haven't seen any of the students since they threw me down the stairs. My guess is that it probably has to do with something the administration and the students are at odds about."

"But that's a terrible thing to do."

"I don't think we should make judgments until all facts are in. I would say burning down a philosophy building could be interpreted as an unlawful act. At the same time, there are moments when an unlawful act can bring about just reforms."

"But the books, the records, the papers are all going up in smoke. Shouldn't we at least call the fire department?"

"I don't believe the fire department should be called until the faculty has met and voted on what course of action should be taken. There are times when a fire department can only inflame a situation. We should also hear from the students who started the fire and get their side of it.

"After all, they have as much stake in the university as anyone else and if they don't make a philosophy building, we should at least listen to their arguments."

"I never thought of it that way," I admitted. "Professor, I know you can't see very well without your glasses but I believe the militant students over at the guadrangle are building a scaffold. They wouldn't hang anyone, would they?"

"THEY HAVEN'T BEFORE," the professor said, "But it's quite possible that this is their way of seeking a confrontation with the establishment."

As we were talking, a group of students rushed up and grabbed the professor. "We got one here," the ringleader shouted. "Get the rope."

"Don't worry, Professor," I shouted as I pushed away by the mob. "I'll get the police."

"I wish you wouldn't," he said calmly, as the students led him toward the scaffold. "If we don't let the students try new methods of activism, they'll never know for themsleves which ones work and which ones are counterproductive."

Odd Facts

The most abundant of all birds in the world are the Wilson's petrels, or "Mother Carey's chickens." They are also the smallest of all sea birds and inhabit all oceans of the world except the north Pacific.

One of the earliest schools to become a great center for one special field of study was in Bologna, Italy — a school of law which was founded in A. D. 1088 and which by the beginning of the 13th century had 10,000 students.

Labor Talks It Over

WASHINGTON — Deep inside labor, a handful of awesomely well-informed men are saying that the U.S. will be moving out of South Vietnam's waterlogged trenches "by midsummer." The war "will bottom out" then, they have been told.

Victor Riesel

This is reported as flatly as they put it, since "they" are the same sources which told this columnist — well in advance (almost a year) — that Lyndon Johnson planned to support Saigon with over 500,000 troops. Grim history has corroborated the accuracy of labor's intelligence sources.

It has been said that these sources are in labor's own alleged "state department," or its own so-called foreign service, or its own long channels of information cutting across the world. This is not so. Their information came directly from the President of the U.S. There is a new President. A Republican President. But there is no need to assume that labor's sources went the way of all transitions.

Thus it is consequential to report that, in these labor circles at least, they are talking of the beginning of the "phase-out of the war" coming in some 90 days.

THERE IS EVIDENCE that President Nixon and labor prexy George Meany are eager to develop an intimate relationship between the new administration and the old movement — perhaps as close as it was between the immediate past president and organized labor. The machine-gun swiftness of news explosions during the past eight years has blurred the memory of the early antagonism between Lyndon Johnson and labor. So awkward was the early "political romance," it took a public dinner and open confessions of mutual affection to make peace amid avowed pledges to "bury the hatchet." Today Mr. Nixon's low-voiced approach has made the honeymoon with labor easier than the first days with Mr. Johnson.

President Nixon, having sent his first team to the AFL-CIO's think-in at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., now has invited labor's first team, the full squad, to the White House for a long private discussion.

They will be led to the White House early on May 5 for their first en masse dialogue with Richard Nixon (scheduled on the President's personal calendar for 10:15 a.m.).

This will be six months, almost to the very hour, since this very same team threw everything it had into a truly last-minute drive to defeat Dick Nixon. But the name-calling is forgotten now. Each side wants to live with each other as warmly, as pleasantly and as long as possible. And as publicly as feasible.

When the President's economic policy team drove over to the Greenbrier Hotel last week, they went with instructions not to rile the hosts. Only the shrewd old infighter, crusty Dr. Arthur Burns, Mr. Nixon's chief home-front adviser, bristled now and then when the labor chiefs pressed hard for answers. On the other side, the labor contingent was sworn to an "Omerta" the likes of which newsmen have not encountered since we used to hide in conference room closets to learn who was insulting whom.

THUS IT WILL BE when the 29-man AFL-CIO Executive Council visits with Richard Nixon that Monday morning.

Mr. Nixon will be pressed hard — since Mr. Meany can't really control all those labor chiefs. There will be much heated talk about "tax justice." This is labor's thing for 1969. Its followers are screaming under the load. They want action now — and the observer need only look at the United Steelworkers election to see where rank-and-file members dumped some famed district directors who had been advocating public programs which would cost additional public monies.

There are maritime union chiefs on the council who see the death of five to seven thousand jobs on lush American liners and old freighters, now being laid up. And these men will push Mr. Nixon with demands for a new merchant marine.

There are men whose industries are being hit hard by imports — and they will urge Mr. Nixon to use his presidential power to choke these off in steel, shoes, textiles and manufactured goods flowing in from across the world in general and from Mexico in particular.

THERE ARE THOSE who will jump him with demands for a $2-an-hour minimum wage. And all of them will demand more spending, not less, to implement the programs of the Kenney and Johnson administrations.

They will urge him to spend and spend — and if he won't advocate this, at least would he please not oppose the liberal-labor controlled Congress when it sends up the bills.

They will argue for the end of tight money. They will say there is "no mechanical trade-off between inflation and unemployment." Their position is that this is "economically false and loaded with social dynamite."

There are those, including George Meany, who believe that the State Department is too dovish, much to eager for an entente with the Soviet Union and North Vietnam. They may say so.

But it will all be soft-voiced. Both sides want this honeymoon to last as long — and as pleasantly — as possible. They must live together for four years, perhaps eight years, and in the lives of the elders of labor, this is a lifetime.

And in the course of living together, both sides are getting to know a great deal about each other. Thus, what is being said deep inside labor's high command is of deep significance to the people.

Go-Ahead To Burn Flag

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court did not help the cause of law and order in America by reversing this week two decisions of the lower courts which had convicted one man of threatening, in 1966, to kill LBJ and another of burning the American flag, both of which are violations of law. In each instance, "freedom of speech" was given a much wider latitude than ever before.

In the flag-burning case, five justices voted to reverse the conviction and four dissented.

The defendant had been convicted of violating a law of New York State which makes it an offense to "mutilate, deface, defile or defy, trample upon or cast contempt upon, either by words or act," the American flag.

ALL OF THE STATES of the union and the District of Columbia have such laws. But the high court declared the flag-burning was just an expression of protest.

Testimony was given that the defendant had cried out, "We don't need no damn flag," and that, when asked whether he had burned the flag, he had said, "Yes; that is my flag; I burned it."

Yet the majority of the court concluded that this "amounted only to somewhat excited public advocacy of the idea that the United States should abandon, at least temporarily, one of its national symbols."

The whole debate centered on whether the man was convicted solely for the burning of the flag or for the words he used when he denounced the flag.

Justice Harlan's majority opinion argued that the words themselves were permissible and that it was not clear from the lower court's decisions whether the individual was being punished for descecrating the flag or for his utterances. But the justice added:

"We are still bound to reverse if the conviction could have been based upon both his words and his act."

Chief Justice Warren declared, however, that the court had refused to meet the basic question and had instead searched "microscopically for the opportunity to decide he case." He said a reading of the trial record convinced him that the man was convicted solely on evidence of burning the flag.

The chief justice expressed his belief that "the states and the federal government do have the power to protect the flag from acts of desecration and distrace."

Justice White, in his dissenting opinion, asserted that it was "sheer fancy to conclude that the trial court convicted him for speech alone and acquitted him of flag-burning." He commented:

"The court has spun an intricate, technical web but I fear it has ensnared itself in its own remorseless logic and arrived at a result having no support in the facts of the case or the governing law."

Cases of this kind unquestionably are noted by lawyers throughout the country and some of them are active in advising campus rioters and various organizations which are stirring up unrest in America.

If the Supreme Court of the United States says that a conviction even for desecration of the flag may not be sustained if the act of burning is tied in with speech related to a protest of some kind, this line of argument undoubtedly will be utilized by other offenders who are engaged in riots and disturbances.

The Supreme Court also brushed aside in another case, by means of a technicality, the conviction of a man who, during a rally at the Washington Monument grounds in August 1966, made a threat against the life of President Johnson.

THIS WILL HAVE a profound effect on the various demonstrators and organizers of marches which disturb domestic peace. They are constantly emphasizing an intention to create violence.

Mob psychology is responsible for much of the disorder in American cities. Persons who wish to instigate trouble manage by shouting epithets and throwing rocks and bottles to stir up animosities, particularly on racial problems.

If the laws of the land which forbid incitement to violence are being ignored by rulings which insist that all this is a part of a symbolic protest on public questions, the unrest in America is likely to be intensified rather than diminished.

The faculty also voted to develop a discipline system which all sides consider fair.

About 50 white radicals occupied Klapper Hall, adjacent to South Campus, to support the Black and Puerto Rican Student Coalition demands for greater enrollment of minority group students among the college's 20,000 undergraduates and for a separate school of black studies.

Gallagher told a faculty meeting: "I will push hard for a separate school for black and Puerto Rican studies."

About a dozen students, led by Students for a Democratic Society, stormed the administration building at American University in Washington, D.C., and evicted the president. Eight hours later they were forced out by a band of youths led by fraternity members. There was brief scuffling but no reported injuries.

At George Washington University in Washington, 30 SDS members ended at 3:15 a.m., a takeover of the Institute of Sino-Soviet Studies after the administration gave them 15 minutes to clear the building or it would enforce a court restraining order. During their five-hour protest, the students smashed furniture, broke windows and ripped up files.

They demanded abolition of the institute, the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, the Naval Logistics Research Laboratory and the Human Resources Office and sought open enrollment for Negroes.

SDS members at Princeton blocked the entrance to the Institute for Defense Analyses, which does Defense Department research, but left after three hours when police arrived. In several scuffles between students, the dean of students was knocked to the ground.

At other campuses:

Cambridge, Mass.—Prof. Henry Rosovsky, a leader in setting up Harvard University's black studies program, resigned as chairman of the standing committee on Afro-American studies, to protest a faculty vote allowing six students to vote on nominations of faculty members to the Afro-American studies department.

Officials at hte Massachusetts Institute of Technology promised to look into MIT's link with defense projects. Defense Department figures show MIT led all universities in fiscal 1967 with $92.4 million allocated for military work.

Syracuse, N.Y.—Hundreds of students boycotted classes to protest an increase in tuition. No incidents were reported.

Kingston, R.I.—About 400 students listened to ROTC cadets defend their program against demands to ban it from the University of Rhode Island campus. Many applauded the cadets enthusiastically.

Hampton, Va.—About 50 students remained overnight in Hampton Institute's administration building, to press demands for higher salaries for instructors and an investigation of the high faculty turnover rate. About 300 students began the sit-in Wednesday after 2,000 students voted to boycott classes.

The storm sewer project in the East End would cost another $68,000, he estimates.

The Freeway extension, the total estimated cost of which will run at least $8,000,000, will cost the city some $400,000, 5 per cent of the over-all total.

The state's share will run 45 per cent and the federal government will pick up the remaining 50 per cent of the tab.

Willshaw said the city's share could be paid by the state through Issue No. 1 revenue without any conflict. The state still would pay its 45 per cent.

Bloomgren said city officials have asked the state to carry the freeway project as far as Park Way because it is a natural stopping point. There will be an interchange there.

He pointed out the over-all design of the extension will depend on the topography and no one is sure of it at present, but cement walls along Pennsylvania Ave. and some marginal housing definitely will be removed by the right-of-way.

He explained that planning for the new section of the four-lane road will consume "all of this year and next."

Bloomgren said Wilson stated yesterday that all four of the projects qualify under the provisions of the act, but that the city now must await an apportionment formula before the money becomes available, about July 1.

Both state legislators said they would do everything possible to see that the city receives its fair share of the money.

Willshaw said the three will set a meeting soon in New Philadelphia with Wezel and Applegate and Division 11 officials relative to the four projects.

He noted at that time there probably will be a conclusion reached about the exact amount of money the city will receive.

The north rim of the Grand Canyon was inhabited about A.D. 600, with the population gradually increasing. Then about 1150, at the height of their population, they departed forever.

Sirhan

—That the grand jury which indicted Sirhan was not properly constituted.

—That Sirhan's private notebooks were seized illegally and should not have been placed in evidence. In them, Sirhan wrote repeatedly: "RFK must die."

For the time being, Sirhan will be held in the Hall of Justice here, where he has been a prisoner since shooting Kennedy last June 5. A bill now before the state legislature would allow him to be held at Vacaville Medical Facility rather than on San Quentin's death row. State officials feel he can be isolated from other prisoners better there.

In the clamor of much public opposition to the death penalty, no one has been executed in the United States since June 2, 1967, when Louis Monge went to the Colorado gas chamber for the bludgeon slaying of his wife and three children. California has had only one execution in six years—that of Aaron Mitchell, 38, who died April 12, 1967 for the murder of a Sacramento policeman during a robbery. Eighty are under death sentence in California.

When the jury's verdict was announced in the crowded courtroom, Sirhan paled but remained silent.

Cooper said Sirhan reassured him a short time later in a cell that he knew his attorneys did their best. He told Cooper:

"Even Jesus Christ couldn't have saved me."

Cooper who once was president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, was near tears when he faced newsmen after the first death verdict of his career.

The jury's decision, Cooper said, was due to "an overriding feeling by the community in the entire United States in favor of law and order." It was fueled, he added, by concern about student unrest and the prominence of Sirhan's victim.

"Im only suggesting these jurors are governed by the same emotions of love and hate that you and I have," he said. "They can't help, as human beings, but be affected by the unrest in this country."

Deputy Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton, a former UCLA football star and a deorated veteran of World War II, said the outcome "expresses the feelings of the jury and their attitude toward this type of crime." The state had called Sirhan a cold-blooded political assassin.

Sirhan's brother Adel, a professional musician, was the only family member in the courtroom when Sirhan's doom was declared.

Adel's eyes glistened, but he held a tight smile. In the crush of newsmen he seemed a forlorn figure as he tried to telephone his mother, who was by her radio at home in Pasadena with another of her five sons. The line was busy.

In the 66 court days since the trial began Jan. 7, the jury heard 90 witnesses, saw 154 exhibits, and listened to testimony that covered 9,000 pages of transcript. The jurors deliberated nearly 17 hours before returning the verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree last week. They went back into their little deliberations room Monday afternoon to choose between San Quentin's apple-green gas chamber, or a lifetime in prison —a verdict that theoretically would have permitted parole in seven years.

Wednesday morning, at 11:35 court clerk Alice Nishikawa read from the white official form the verdict that put an end to the tension that gripped judge, attorneys and spectators and the ashen-faced defendant:

"The People of the State of California vs. Sirhan Bishara Sirhan. We, the jury in the above-mentioned action, having found the defendant Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, guilty of murder in the first degree, as charged in Count 1 of the indictment, now fix the penalty at death."

Chronic Mucuous Not Cancer Cause

The DOCTOR Says

Q — Are people who have spastic colitis prone to have a high cholesterol level? Will chronic colitis cause cancer?

Dr Brandstadt

A — There is no connection between colitis and the blood cholesterol level. Chronic mucous colitis will not cause cancer but chronic ulcerative colitis often does.

Q—I am on a bland diet because of colitis. How long will I have to stay on this diet? Does colitis ever clear up? Would a highball mixed with water affect my colitis?

A—Although persons with colitis must curb their intake of roughage, the amount they can tolerate varies with the severity of the disease. Some can take the equivalent of one or two well - cooked prunes a day.

Raw vegetables and fruit are at last twice as irritating, ounce for ounce, as cooked. With careful management colitis can be controlled and the diet liberalized, but this takes time and most victims have to use caution in selecting their diet for the rest of their lives. Distilled spirits in moderation usually have no harmful effect on the bowel. The same cannot be said for fermented beverages.

Q — My doctor wants me to take a bland diet for colitis but he did not say what foods to eat or avoid. Is whole wheat bread considered roughage?

A—A truly bland diet contains no fruit, vegetable or bran. Whole wheat bread contains bran.

Q — Why do doctors sometimes take out one's appendix when they remove the gall bladder?

A—It is common practice for a surgeon to remove the appendix even though it is normal when he has to open the abdomen. This procedure is safe and relatively easy and avoids having to remove it later if appendicitis should develop.

Q — What are Aventyl pills given for? Can one take them for a long period?

A — Nortriptyline (Aventyl) is an antidepressant. Anyone who takes this drug for a long time should have a periodic checkup.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Indications Rise In Paris DeGaulle May Quit Soon

PARIS (AP) — Indications are mounting that this may be President Charles de Gaulle's last week in office.

The 78-year-old French leader has said he would resign immediately if the referendum Sunday votes down his proposal to transfer some of the central government's powers to regional administrations and reduce the Senate to a consultative role.

The newspaper Figaro published a poll today showing that for the first time since De Gaulle made his resignation threat, opponents of the constitutional changes outnumber supporters 53 per cent to 47 per cent. As recently as March 31, polls showed 56 per cent planned to vote yes in the referendum.

The switch came after De Gaulle's televised address linking his political future to the little understood, 38-page reform bill.

De Gaulle himself indicated doubt Wednesday about the outcome when he told his Cabinet at the end of their weekly session: "We'll meet again—in principle—next Wednesday."

The merits of the proposed changes have been overshadowed by the question of confidence in De Gaulle's stewardship, which is exactly what he intended. The threat of defeat has spurred the Gaullists to frantic new efforts, but most voters still appear apathetic about the referendum and the future of the 11-year-old De Gaulle epoch.

The president will broadcast another appeal for support Friday night. His traditional argument, "De Gaulle or chaos," appears to have lost much of its force due to the lack of threat from the left and the prospect of a replacement for the old man.

De Gaulle's resounding victory in the legislative elections last June came in the wake of six weeks of student violence and labor strikes that scared the middle class into the arms of the Gaullists.

Memories of those hectic days have faded and the parties of the left are in disarray, obviously posing no threat to the established order. And the argument that no one can replace De Gaulle is offset by the comeback being made by former Premier Georges Pompidou, now regarded as a strong candidate to succeed De Gaulle.

Middle class voters, at odds with De Gaulle on economic and monetary issues, generally have supported him out of fear of the Communists. Now Pompidou, a former Rothschild banker, is waiting in the wings to provide an orderly succession.

Warning Issued On Dumping In Borough Sewers

Midland Fire Chief William Monac Jr. issuer a warning Wednesday concerning the dumping of any flammable liquids into sewers. He said liquids such as gasoline, paint thinners and alcohol are highly dangerous.

He said he has received numerous complaints of fumes in homes, especially in the area of the Carnegie Library and 9th St. He said residents are now doing their spring cleaning and may be dumping the liquids into the sewers.

Monac said the fumes enter homes, and if enough accumulate, a fire could result. The best place to dispose of these liquids is in a dirt area where they can be absorbed or evaporate, he stated.

Monac also said he is checking the abandoned gasoline stations in Midland. There is a law that underground tanks must be filled with sand, concrete or removed within 90 days after they cease to be used.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

Scully Leaps From Brown To Bras

Television is so intimate a medium that we tend to label and pigeonhole personalities and are rather astonished when they appear out of context.

Cecil Smith

The other morning, for example, after the "Today" show, on came one of those inane daytime game shows called "It Takes Two," and there as the master of ceremonies was red-faced Vincent Edward Scully. I would have been no more surprised to find Lawrence Welk playing bass with the Fifth Dimension.

-:-

SCULLY, as you probably know, is one of the nation's finest sportscasters. His quiet, relaxed manner and precise, literate descriptions of the Dodgers baseball games so delight Los Angeles fans that they carry radios to the stadium, refusing to believe what they see until Scully says it's so.

Moreover, Scully is an articulate, widely read man who knows as much about James Thurber as Babe Ruth and can discuss either with ease. He's to the hysterical, word-mangling world of sportscasting as Red Smith is to sports writing, refining the description of men in motion to the level of art.

But sportscasting is fundamentally male territory, as daytime TV belongs to women, and to leap from the world of brawn and beer to that of bras and bric-a-brac seems so radical that I dropped by NBC's Burbank studios to talk to the redhead.

FINDING HIM is a problem. Backstage at "It Takes Two" is a jungle of fire engines, elephants, belly dancers, college girls in a vat crushing grapes with their bare feet, a squad of ROTC cadets in close-order drill and various assorted teams of celebrities and their wives, such as the Sebastian Cabots, the Shelly Bermans, the James Drurys.

The show is credited as a Ralph Andrews Thing, which is an apt description. Scully asks guest celebrities for answers to such preposterous questions as the combined waist measurements of an elephant and a Playboy bunny to which the celebrities offer wild guesses and members of the audience guess which guesses are closest to the truth. That kind of thing.

"THE SHOW," said Scully, "is designed for young housewives in the 18-35 bracket and preschool children. You have James Drury for the housewife and the elephant for the kids.

"I play it straight, just as if I were describing a ball game. I don't play particularly to women. I try to keep the show rolling, keep it amusing, light — hopefully have a quick-witted guest like Sebastian Cabot to kid with.

"It's tough doing two jobs at once. We have to tape 25 shows in 14 days while the Dodgers are in town to carry us over when the club hits the road. That's the reason I'm doing it, you know. I want to get off the road. I want to get off the baseball wheel.

"WON'T GET ME wrong. This is my 20th year broadcasting baseball — and I love it as much as the day I started. But the road gets me down. Those endless days in hotel rooms in Cincinnati or Atlanta or St. Louis.

"I have three children — Mike is 9, Kevin, 7, and Little Erin is 7 months. I want to watch them grow up. Through a fluke in the schedule I had Easter Sunday at home. We went to the beach and had an Easter egg hunt. That was the first and only Easter I have ever spent with my family.

"Maybe this is a way to earn a living and stay home. At least, that's my goal."

The show has only been on the air since March 31, and there's hardly been time to test the housewife reaction. Most of the time, Vin has been on the road with the Dodgers. I asked if he'd had any word on the show in cities he'd visited.

"WELL IN HOUSTON," he said, "One of the umpires came over and told me he watched the show every morning and liked it."

Vin paused. "They tell me," he said, "the show is for housewives and preschool kids. I wonder if they should include umpires."

Razing Plan Is Lauded At Midland

A commendation for the Midland Municipal Authority for progress on preliminary plans for housing was given by Midland Council President William Vinovich at a Council meeting Wednesday night.

The Authority has awarded contracts for razing three substandard houses on sites being considered for housing or parking lots.

A Beaver County Housing Authority inspection team is currently surveying Midland to determine if the borough qualifies for housing funds. This is the initial step required in applying for federal assistance.

Council at its March 12 meeting requested the inspection. Mayor Eli Corak said the administration plans to apply later for low income housing projects, but at the present, the borough's best chances are for housing for the elderly.

Vinovich said a lot near the 1st St. School owned by George Studen will be razed soon. Studen is negotiating for the sale of the property. He is constructing garages on Beaver Ave. and plans to remove equipment now stored along the Midland Ave. site to the new location, it was revealed.

Vinovich announced applications are being received for employment at the Veterans Memorial swimming pool at the borough secretary's office beginning May 1, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Applicants must be 16-years-old, and have a work permit, which may be obtained at the superintendent's office at the high school. Jobs available include manager, assistant manager, checkers for the boys and girls lockers, concession stand attendants, cashier, baby pool attendant and life guards.

Life guards must have senior life saving certificate.

The secretary was authorized to write a letter of congratulations to Maxine Anderson of Midland, a student at the University of Indiana, who was recently named Miss University of Indiana, and will compete in the Miss Pennsylvania pageant in May.

Don Bertran, engineer for the Michael Baker Jr. Civil Engineering Inc., said gids for the new packer truck will be advertized twice in the newspaper May 1 and 8.

A request by Rolando Cerasi of 1051 Beaver Ave. to cut the curb in front of his home for a driveway was turned over to the engineer.

Tests for a patrolmen and sergeants eligibility list will be given as soon as the test forms are received from the Civil Service office.

Council members went to the Leavell Funeral Home in a group immediately after the meeting to pay their respects to the aunt of Councilman Leonard Ware. Mayor Corak and Atty. Robert Masters, borough solicitor, were absent. They are attending a meeting in Harrisburg.

Members and chairmen of the various committees for the borough include: Finance and Laws —William Shovlin, chairman, Joseph Hibbard and Peter Vuckovich; Fire — Hibbard, chairman, Ray Presutti and Joseph D'Alesio; Swimming Pool—William Vinovich, chairman, Presutti and Ware.

Cape Town Resists Aparthied Attempt

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — City councilors here are resisting government attempts to enforce apartheid on their racially easy - going city.

Recently, the council defied a directive from the Cape Provincial Administration to erect "Whites Only" notice boards at six public playgrounds.

Last year, it refused to put up signs reserving most of the seaside city's beaches for whites. Many of the beaches are traditionally multiracial. The Provincial Administration had to erect the notice boards itself and charge the costs to the municipality.

State Of Emergency Put On Lebanon After Riots

BULLETIN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new clash broke out between Palestinians and troops in Lebanon today and four persons were reported killed despite a state of emergency designed to keep the nation calm.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Beirut and five other major Lebanese towns are under curfew today, and a state of emergency is in force throughout Lebanon following a day of riots in which at least 11 people were killed and 62 were wounded.

The nation's 15,000-man army patrolled the streets, guarded key installations and kept thousands of Palestinian refugees in their camps.

The strict security measures were taken to prevent funerals for victims of Wednesday's violence from turning into bloody antigovernment demonstrations. Thousands of Palestinian refugees in the southern city of Sidon threatened to defy the curfew to attend the burials.

Premier Rashid Karami considered resigning but was persuaded by Cabinet colleagues to remain in office, government sources reported. He made a dramatic midnight appeal for national unity and pledged the government would take all necessary measures to maintain law and order.

The premier said the entire country supports the Palestinian cause and noted that the government approved a new conscription law Wednesday night.

Lebanon's population is about half Christian and half Moslem, and the government generally has tried to steer clear of involvement in the Middle East fighting.

In line with this, it has tried to prevent Palestinian commandos from using Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel, but in reprisal for an Arab attack on a Israeli El Al airliner at Athens last December, Israeli commandos attacked Beirut International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Refugees who fled to Lebanon from Palestine in 1948 and their offspring now number 160,000. They are fierce supporters of the Arab guerrilla movement, and many Lebanese students back them.

Refugees and students, many of them armed, surged through the streets Wednesday demanding that the government give Arab guerrilla fighters freedom to use Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel. They battled security forces in Beirut, the southern city of Sidon and the village of Barr Elias in the Bekaa Valley. Two of the dead were members of the security force.

Warren Hailed By Nixon At White House Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, accepting a White House salute from one-time political foe Richard M. Nixon, says he will leave his post "without malice in my heart toward anyone."

Warren, who retires in June, was hailed Wednesday by the President at a black tie dinner at the White House, where champagne toasts washed down some bitter memories.

Among the 108 guests Nixon gathered to honor Warren's 50 years of public service, were the chief justice's family, friends, court colleaguees, government officials and seven men often mentioned as candidates for the top seat on the Supreme Court.

Nixon, however, concentrated on providing a warm farewell in advance for Warren, who plans to step down at the end of the current court term in June.

Before his 1953 appointment as chief justice by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican Warren was a political power in California, serving in several state offices, including three terms as governor.

Ring Of Telephone Infuriates Doggie

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Using the telephone is quite and experience at the home of Dr. Glenwood Creech.

The kitchen phone is hidden in the pantry. There's another in a clothes closet, and to use the one in the basement, you have to stand on a box.

Creech made the changes because his fox terrier becomes infuriated every time a phone rings.

He chews insulation off the wires and often snaps them in half.

After making repairs 10 different times, the telephone company notified Creech he would have to pay for them himself.

Fire insurance in its modern form originated following the great fire of London in 1666, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Hurricane Ill Wind That Did Some Good

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Hurricane Colleen was an ill wind that did some one some good.

It swept aacross the Southwest Pacific in February and ravaged parts of Noumea, New Caledonia; but it was a savior for the little New Zealand freighter, Matipo, 398 tons, which had been stranded on a reef 40 miles from Noumea for nine months.

Her owner, Capt. Athol Rusden, said that the force of the storm had lifted the Matipo clear of the reef.

Choir Group Backs Levies

George Ward, a member of the East Liverpool board of education, discussed the 12 - mill renewal levies during the meeting of the Choir Parents Tuesday night at 7:30.

The organization approved a resolution supporting the levies and a ontribution was made to the "Citizens Who Care" committee to help promote the levies.

Officers elected for the 1969-70 term are Raymond Richards, president; Mrs. Roy Davis, vice president; John Gauron, treasurer, and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, secretary. Richards and Gauron were incumbents.

The nominating committee included Mrs. Marjorie Milne, Mrs. Dale Thornton and Mrs. Harriet Faulk.

Mrs. Gladys Channels reported on the recent tag day, Mrs. Milne on entertainment, Mrs. Marvin Kinsey on social activities and Mrs. Ruth Morris on decorating for the May 10 choir formal and the May 24 senior trip.

Mrs. Frankie Harris, choir director, discussed the spring concert to be held May 2.

Area Girl Earns Prize In Safety Slogan Contest

Cynthia Ross, a 14-year-old Beaver Local Public School students, was the Columbiana County juvenile winner in the Ohio Department of Highway's annual traffic safety slogan contest.

Cynthia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross of Bloomfield, submitted the slogan, "Stay Alert, Stay Alive, Say a Prayer Before You Drive."

Ray L. Dean of Salem won the county's adult award with the slogan, "Be Safe Two Ways —Coming and Going."

Dean, editor of the Salem News, also won second place in the editorial competition in the annual statewide event.

The top adult winner in Ohio was Terry Shannon of Bellevue, a student at Bowling Green University, whose slogan was "Are You Driving Yourself To Death?" His award is a 1969 sports car and Ohio's No. 1 license plate.

The top juvenile winner was Cathy Sharrock of Cincinnati. Her slogan was "Safe Drivers Are Survivors." She received $35 cash.

FBI Foils Boy's Elaborate Plans To Resist Draft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The FBI has thwarted Michael Ragen Hall's elaborate plans to publicly resist the draft.

Agents Wednesday arrested the 18-year-old Columbus boy—an honor student at Ohio State University—on a charge of failing to register with the Selective Service System.

Hall was placed in custody of a U. S. marshal.

Hall, who says he is a conscientious objector, had planned a news conference, a rally on the Ohio State University campus and a march on the Federal Building here Friday as part of his public refusal to sign up for the draft.

The youth had sent letters to more than 1,000 area clergymen asking them to appear with him Friday at the draft board office, and has been busy organizing a student peace vigil on the OSU campus Friday at noon.

The United States minted 2-cent coins from 1864 to 1873 and 3-cent coins from 1865 to 1889.

total of U.S. helicopters reported lost in the war to 2,551.

One of the aircraft was hit while attempting to make a landing east of the A Shau Valley near the Laotian border. Seven U.S. troops were killed and two wounded. A second chopper was downed near the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon; two men were killed and one wounded.

The two helicopters raised to nine the number reported lost in the past 48 hours, with a total of 20 U.S. troops and eight South Vietnamese soldiers killed.

The weekly casualty summary announced today by the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands showed that American battle deaths increased by 12 last week, South Vietnamese combat dead increased 85, and 441 more enemy were killed than the week before.

The casualty totals last week were 216 Americans killed in action, 1,602 U.S. troops wounded, 329 government soldiers killed, 884 wounded, and 3,379 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

This brought the total casualties reported for the first eight weeks of the Viet Cong offensive to 2,360 Americans and 2,618 South Vietnamese killed in action, 14,321 U.S. troops and 10,207 South Vietnamese soldiers wounded.

the U.S. representative said: "Your side must recognize that no undertaking of importance with regard to South Vietnam can be carried out without the approval of the legitimate government of the Republic of Vietnam. Therefore, you must be prepared, as the government of the Republic of Vietnam is prepared, to begin the process of serious discussions among South Vietnamese of the elements of a political solution."

He said the United States will respect "whatever choice they make about their political future in a context free of compulsion and coercion."

"Progress toward peace," Lodge said, "can be hastened significantly if your side is prepared in the near future to engage in practical negotiations on mutual force withdrawals."

Lodge asserted that the enemy demand for a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. forces is not a serious proposal.

South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam also declared that the mutual withdrawal of external forces was the key to a settlement. He linked the issue of withdrawal with a declaration that the Saigon government has no desire to annihilate those who are bearing arms against it.

Those who are fighting against the South Vietnamese government, he said, "will enjoy all the rights stipulated by the constitution for every citizen and they will have every opportunity of contributing to the reconstruction and edification of the country."

He rejected Viet Cong proposals for a peace cabinet and coalition government, saying this was contrary to the principle of self-determination.

Coalition Bill Sets Limit On School Aid Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, showing it can still call some legislative shots, has passed a bill limiting extension of federal aid to schools for two years.

In joining the Republican, the Southern Democrats brought about the defeat of the three year extension sought by their party leaders.

In past years, even during Democratic administrations, the Southerners formed with Republicans in a coalition to stop what they considered too liberal legislation.

House Democratic leaders found Wednesday they were powerless to stop the coalition even in this time of a Republican in the White House.

Besides limiting aid extension to two years, a move supported by President Nixon, the coalition, with help from a key northern Democrat, Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, also moved another step forward in its drive to provide lump-sum grants instead of funding specified programs.

The bill, sent to the Senate floor after three days of debate would bring together four programs which now require separate applications and separate grants.

Defeat of the House Democratic leadership on the bill was especially bitter because it went to great lengths to hold the southerners in line.

Democratic leaders, who met for several days with southern representatives had trimmed their own bill to meet demands.

But on the final roll call vote that put the Green-sponsored package over and sealed their defeat, they lost 235-84, with 60 Democrats deserting to the Republicans. Only nine Republicans supported the version backed by the Democrats.

The House then joined to give final approval to the bill 400-17.

The bill continues until fiscal 1972 the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that funnels more than $1 billion a year into school districts that have a high concentration of children from low-income families.

The bill also make funds available for library materials, experimental educational programs and aid to migrant and handicapped children. A total of $5 billion a year is authorized for the programs, but the actual money appropriated has been less than half that amount.

After State Audit

'Proper,' Examiner Says Of Treasurer's Ledgers

LISBON — No accounting discrepancies were revealed in a state audit of the Office of County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge for the period April 1, 1966, to Jan. 25, 1969.

State Examiner Robert L. Hookey said the general ledger, journal of warrants issued and pay - in journal were properly maintained.

"As required by statute, the county treasurer has accounted for taxes collected twice annually for real estate and personal property," the examiner said. "No discrepancies were found in test checks."

Operating costs of the treasurer's office for 1968, last full year of the audit period, were $78,106, compared with $78,123 for 1967.

The examiner noted that the treasurer did not comply with the Ohio Revised Code in three instances — the $50,000 blanket bond for employes was not approved by him, he did not file an annual inventory except in 1967 and he did not maintain adequate records for sick leave and vacation.

The balance sheet for the end of the period showed assets of $1,977,990. A summary showed $59,221 in funds on hand; the following active funds on deposit — Citizens Banking Co., Salineville, $80,000; Firestone Bank, Lisbon, $143,912; Union Commercial and Savings, East Palestine, $50,000; Union Banking Co., Columbiana, $50,000; New Waterford Bank, $50,000; Farmers National Bank, Salem, $198,448; First National Bank, Salem $50,000, and First National Bank, East Palestine, $50,000; inactive funds of $113,000 in First National, Salem; $178,000 in First National, East Liverpool and $200,000 in First National, East Palestine. In addition, $746,409 was invested in U.S. treasury notes at 5¾ per cent interest.

Liabilities totaled $1,977,990, including $1,866,590 in the county auditor's fund ledger balance and $111,399 in outstanding warrants.

The report is available for public inspection in the offices of the prosecutor or auditor.

First Serious Streamlining Bid

House Speaker Delighted With Reorganization Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker John W. McCormack, never known in the past to favor congressional reorganization, says he is delighted that a serious effort is under way to streamline House procedures.

Several reorganizations bills have been introduced this session, but the first serious move toward getting an acceptable measure didn't come until Tuesday when House Rules Committee Chairman William D. Colmer, D-Miss., appointed a subcommittee to come up with appropriate legislation.

McCormack, D-Mass., said in an interview:

"I have asked them to come up with a reorganization bill. I've been after them about it all along and I'm delighted that they're going to do something about it."

House sources said this is the first time the speaker has actively worked for a reorganization measure. In the past, they said, he never openly opposed such bills, but by refusing to put the prestige of his office behind reorganization efforts he virtually caused their defeat.

The subcommittee is headed by Rep. B. F. Sisk, a California Republican and includes Reps. Ray Madden, D-Ind. and Richard Bolling, D-Mo. All are advocates of reorganization.

The subcommittee will study all reorganization proposals at its disposal, including three bills introduced this session and proposals made in the past by Republicans.

Sisk says he intends to come up with a realistic proposal, one that will be acceptable to the most powerful elements in the House—committee chairmen.

In the past, Sisk said, reorganization supporters made the mistake of shaking up committee procedures too much, thus alienating the chairmen.

The reorganization drive has taken on a definite bipartisan aspect. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has joined McCormack in supporting reorganization. He said he was "delighted that progress is being made—it's very hopeful."

Besides the number of Republicans on the subcommittee, it is a GOP member's bill that seems most favored at this time. And that's a Democratic assessment.

Bolling said a bill introduced earlier this year by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., seems most favored at the moment.

Smith's bill would permit a majority of a committee to have a special meeting called upon written request, thus circumventing some of the power now enjoyed by some iron-handed committee chairmen.

It also would allow any member at least one day to file a minority report on any given measure as a means of preventing the ramrodding of legislation to the floor without dissent.

It would allow committees, at their discretion, to permit televised broadcasing of a hearing "if they are transmitted as a public service without commercial sponsorship, and a witness does not object to the broadcasting of his testimony."

The measure also would provide a central data processing center, in cooperation with the secretary of the Treasury and the Budget Bureau, for use by congressmen in cost analysis and any other matter requiring computers.

Cite Lawful Betting Operations

Legal Gambling Interests Say Nixon Discriminates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal gambling interests are complaining President Nixon's program to fight organized crime discriminates against persons engaged in lawful betting operations.

Bookmakers in Nevada, where gambling is a legal and big business, said a proposal, backed by President Nixon, to increase the federal occupational tax on wagering from $50 to $1,000 was unfair and indicated they may fight it up to the Supreme Court as "unconstitutional."

If they do, it won't be the first time the occupational gambling tax has been there.

The Court ruled early last year that an illegal gambler couldn't be convicted for nonpayment of the tax if he claimed that by registering to buy the tax stamp he incriminated himself.

Justice Department officials said that decision neutralized the Internal Revenue Service in that phase of the racketeering battle but said other parts of the new measure "will get the IRS back into the battle against organized crime." The officials didn't say how the proposal would get around the high court decision.

It won't apply to government-operated sweepstakes such as the New York and New Hampshire state lotteries.

In Reno, North Swanson, owner of the Reno Turf Club, said the annual federal wagering tax stamp along with the 10 per cent wagering tax was conceived originally as a punitive measure rather than a revenue producer.

"It's obvious that we, the legal gamblers in Nevada, will have to get together and take this to the Supreme Court to get Nevada exempted," he said.

"The whole purpose of the tax is to fight illegal crime—which we are not."

A Washington area man who runs an illegal bookmaking operation asked how bookies like himself could be induced to pay $1,000 when few of them pay the $50 fee.

"Hell, I'd pay $5,000 for a stamp if they'd let me alone," he said. "But when the stamps first went into effect I can remember four guys who went ahead and bought them and within a year they'd all been arrested."

Treasury Department figures show sale of stamps in 1968 produced $416,000. The 10 per cent tax levied against gambling operations produced another $4.5 million—most of it, presumably, from legal operations in Nevada.

U.S. Agents Arrest 5 For Bogus Money

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Five men were arrested Wednesday in three cities on charges of distributing counterfeit $100 bills by U.S. Secret Service Agents who said they used information obtained through wiretapping.

Agents said the men were responsible for distribution of at least $150,000 in bogus bills to pushers in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. The arrests were made in Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburgh.

Arrested were Vincent Ferrari, 31, of Warrensville Heights, a Cleveland suburb; Leon Eldridge, 25, of Cleveland; Mario Guerrieri, 37, of Youngstown; Frederick Frem, 37, of Youngstown and Robert Cooper, 36, of Pittsburgh.

A sixth man, identified as Steve Gomori Jr. of Youngstown, was being sought.

Wilmer K. Deckard, head of the Secret Service in Cleveland, said U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had authorized use of wiretapping in this case—reportedly the first such use since the Nixon administration ordered the use of court-approved wiretapping to crack down on organized crime.

Kent Students Vote Against Class Boycott

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University students have voted down a proposed four-day classroom boycott in protest of the suspensions of a group of demonstrators.

Results of Wednesday's balloting, announced early today, showed 2,459 votes for the proposed boycott coupled with a teach-in. There were 1,948 votes for a teach-in alone and 4,110 voted to do nothing.

Altogether, 8,615 ballots were cast on these and related issues. That is 45.7 per cent of the 18,900 eligible to vote—including 500 faculty members.

Other vote results:

Should the university drop the suspensions of students? yes 3,100; no 5,151.

Should the university use its influence to get criminal charges against the demonstrators dropped: yes 3,094; no 5,577.

Should the university reinstate the charter of the Students for a Democratic Society? yes 3,232; no 5,210.

Should the university return to enforcement of the student conduct code of November, 1968? yes 5,340; no 2,833.

Leaders of the Concerned Citizens of the KSU Community (CCC), formed last week to protest the administration's handling of student protest demonstrations, said the votes would be recounted to ensure an accurate count.

Thirty-two students were suspended by Kent State President Robert I. White for their part in a demonstration April 16. The demonstrators broke into a locked campus building where a hearing was being conducted for students suspended in an earlier demonstration.

The burro descends from the North African gray donkey and probably was first tamed by man in the New Stone Age some 12,000 years ago.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A check of the final National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association statistics shows that numerous players who were standouts, either in high school or college in the Tri-State area and are now in the pro ranks.

Cincinnati U.'s Oscar Robertson, now with the Cincinnati Royals, ended fifth in the NBA in total points and has a 24.7 average. Hal Greer of Marshall and Philadelphia was seventh with a 23.1 average, and John Havlicek of Bridgeport, Ohio State and Boston was 14th with a 21.6 mark. Jerry Lucas of Middletown, Ohio State and the Royals was second in field goal percentage to Wilt Chamberlain with a .551 mark. Lucas was also seventh in rebounds (Chamberlain was also the leader here) and scored 18.3 points a game. Robertson led the league in assists with 9.8 a game, and was fifth in free throw percentage with an 83.8 mark. Larry Seigfried of Boston, Lucas' teammate at OSU, led the NBA foul shooters with 86.4 per cent. Siegfried scored 14.2 points a game. Havlicek was ninth in assists and Jerry West of West Virginia U. and Los Angeles 10th. West hit 25.9 points a game, but missed 20 games due to injuries. Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green and San Francisco was fifth in rebounding.

Every NBA team except Atlanta and Phoenix had at least one tri-state product. Baltimore had Jack Marin of Farrell (15.9 ppg), Gus Johnson of Akron (17.9), John Barnhill of Central State (6.4) and Bob Quick of Xavier (3.1). Chicago had Bob Weiss of Penn State (6.6). The Royals, in addition to Robertson and Lucas, had Connie Dierking of Cincinnati U. (16.3), and Fred Foster of Miami (3.4).

Detroit had Howard (Butch) Komives of Bowling Green (11.4). Milwaukee had Wayne Embry of Miami (13.1) and Dick Cunningham of Canton (4.6). New York had the Dayton Belmont boys, Don May of Dayton (4.3) and Bill Hosket of Ohio State (2.6). Philadelphia, in addition to Greer had George Wilson of Cincinnati U. (8.8). San Diego had Stu Lantz of Uniontown (7.8) and Henry Finkel of Dayton U. (3.7). San Francisco had Ron Williams of Weirton and West Virginia U. (7.8), and Seattle had another Mountaineer, Rod Thorn (11.5).

In the ABA, Farrell's Willie Somerset, playing for Houston and New York, was seventh in scoring with a 23.8 mark. Roger Brown of Dayton was 12th and Fred Lewis of McKeesport 13th. Both playing for Indiana, they hit 21.0 and 20.3 respectively. Somerset was fifth in free throw seventh in assists. Stu Johnson of Clairton was fifth in three-point field goal percentage.

Manny Leaks of Cleveland hit 9.7 points a game for Dallas. Walt Piatkowski averaged 12.2 for Denver. Johnson led Houston with 19.2. Tom Thacker of Cincinnati added 5.4 a game for Indiana. George Stone of Marshall hit 15.7 for Los Angeles. Garry Bradds of Ohio State put in 18.7 a game for Oakland.

JOHN McLENDON of Cleveland State has turned down an offer to coach the Denver Rockets of the ABA and will stay as the coach at Cleveland State. McLendon was the first Negro coach in pro basketball when he handled the Cleveland Pipers of the old American Basketball League.

TOBY SMITH, Bubba Smith's 6-5, 265 little brother, has transferred from Michigan State to Southern California.

MARV KINSEY, who holds the East Liverpool High School record for the discus throw, has changed spring sports, with good success. Kinsey is a freshman in the junior college part of Valley Forge (Pa.) Military Academy this year, but Valley Forge has no discus program. So Kinsey switched to baseball, and Tuesday pitched a no-hitter against the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., winning 2-0. Kinsey is now 1-1 on the year.

Havlicek Gets 37 For Losers

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's John Havlicek said it the only way it could be said:

"Jerry West was fantastic and he really killed us."

Not only did the veteran star of the Los Angeles Lakers score 53 points against the defending National Basketball Association champion Celtics in their opening playoff game Wednesday night but he had 10 assists.

As it turned out, the Lakers needed all the West contributions to pull out a 120-118 decision and take a 1-0 lead in the best of seven title series.

He won't, for instance, double team the 6-foot-3 superstar from West Virginia.

"West was the difference, but with a two-point loss here in the opening game, I'm not going to change a thing," Russell said.

"It wasn't the 53 points that beat us, it was the 10 assists."

West's previous playoff high total was 52 points but not in a championship series. In eight previous seasons, the Lakers never have won the title, losing to Boston on five occasions.

Jerry played like a man with a mission before the 17,554 fans, hitting shots from 25 feet out and on several occasions driving in under Russell and coming back with a reverse lay-up.

"I suppose it's one of the greatest games I've ever played," West commented. "However, there have been games when I've scored a lot fewer points and still felt I helped the team more with assists and playing defense."

Havlicek, with 37 points, paced the Celtics who led 58-56 at the half and 84-82 in a game which saw the lead change hands 21 times.

The key came with less than two minutes to play when West hit two jumpers from the side for a three point lead at 113-110. Four times the Celtics cut the margin to one, but never again went ahead.

Elgin Baylor scored 24 for the Lakers while Sam Jones had 21 for the Celtics. In the rebound department, Russell collected 27 and Wilt Chamberlain 22. In their personal scoring duel, Russell got 16 points and Chamberlain 15.

"I'm sure Wilt must have intimidated some of their shooters," commentd Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff of the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, who's playing his first season in Los Angeles.

Red Auerbach, the general manager of the Celtics, had his own idea:

Dodgers Down Reds

Koosman Blanks Pirates; Dierker Ends Astro Slide

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Dierker and Jerry Koosman have written off a couple of embarrassing numbers and replaced them with zeros.

Dierker braked Houston's seven-game skid Wednesday night with a two-hit 4-0 triumph over San Diego while Koosman cut a pre-game 9.00 earned run average down to size by hurling the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0.

Don Sutton, who started the day with a 7.04 ERA, spotted Cincinnati three early runs, then stopped the Reds cold in pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-3 victory in the only other National League action.

The Atlanta-San Francisco, St. Louis-Chicago and Philadelphia-Montreal games were rained out.

The Astros, humiliated by Cincinnati 14-0 Tuesday night, ended their seven-game losing streak as Dierker, 2-2, held San Diego hitless after the third inning. The Houston right-hander gave up an infield single by Ed Spiezio in the second and a single by Roberto Pena in the third, then retired 14 Padres in order.

Norm Miller doubled in the first inning and scored the only run Dierker needed on a single by Curt Blefary. A walk, singles by Miller and Joe Morgan and a balk by reliever Frank Reberger gave the Astros two more runs in the sixth. Another scored in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

Koosman, a 19-game winner for the Mets as a rookie last year, scattered five hits on the way to his first 1969 victory after two setbacks. The shutout lowered the left-hander's ERA to 4.41.

Cleon Jones stroked three hits, drove in one run and scored another while grabbing the NL batting lead with a .444 average. Jones' run-scoring single off Jim Bunning, after a double by Ken Boswell, sent the Mets ahead in the first inning. In the fourth, Jones doubled and scored on Ed Kranepool's single.

Sutton, clipped for a two-run double by Tony Perez in the first inning and a RBI single by Bob Tolan in the second, settled down to finish with a six-hitter and his first victory in three decisions. The loss snapped a three-game winning string for the Reds.

The Dodgers shot in front 4-3 with a four-run burst off Gary Nolan in the fourth and Ted Sizemore's two-run single in the eighth wrapped up their seventh victory in eight home games.

Williams Returns To Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams returned to a tumultuous welcome at Fenway Park, but the Hall of Fame slugger who now manages the Washington Senators seemed the man least affected by it all.

"It didn't really hit me that much," the great Boson Red Sox hitter of yesteryear said of the pre-game applause he received Wednesday, climaxed by a standing ovation as he strode to the plate to exchange line-up cards with his opposite number, Dick Williams.

"If was a fine reception, but I wasn't especially aware of the size of the crowd or anything—I really wasn't," Williams said.

Everyone else—even the writers with whom Williams had often feuded during his playing years in Boston—seemed more moved than he was by the warmth of the ovation he received from the big weekday turnout of 28,972 fans.

"You looked pleased," said one reporter who couldn't believe Williams' post-game nonchalance.

"Did I tip my cap or anything?" the manager shot back.

He didn't, though he did get out of character long enough to wave to the crowd at the request of photographers. He also seemed in good spirits as he smiled and joked with the scores of newsmen.

The last man to hit .400 greeted old acquaintances on the field and in the stands.

Williams reminisced about the day in 1939 when he first trotted out onto the field here as a gangling rookie destined for baseball immortality, and of the fabulous career which continued through 1960.

"Some of my fondest memories are here in this park," he said.

Then came the big ovation right before the game, followed by the part of the day which made him happiest of all—a 9-3 victory by his ball club.

Oaks, Pacers Win, Take 3-0 ABA Leads

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks and the Indiana Pacers each could wrap up their American Basketball Association division playoff titles Friday night, against New Orleans and Miami, respectively.

While the Pacers overpowered the Miami Floridians 119-105 Wednesday night, Oakland needed six free throws in the final three minutes to tilt the seesaw game against the New Orleans Buccaneers 113-107 for a commanding 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 Western Division final. Indiana also holds a 3-0 lead over Miami in the Eastern Division final.

Oakland's biggest margin was six points at the final buzzer after New Olreans had led most of the way. The Floridians, described by Coach Jim Pollard as "injured and tired," charged to within two points of Indiana at 74-72 in the third period in their most productive rally.

Gary Bradds was high for the Oaks with 33. The Jones boys, Jimmy and Steve, each had 26 for the Bucs.

Chicago Wins In Milwaukee

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox have opened their second front in the American League war. But the troops. . .where are the troops?

The White Sox played their first of 11 transplanted home games in Milwaukee County Stadium Wednesday night with Gary Peters scattering six hits and Buddy Bradford rapping a three-run homer in a 7-1 victory over California. Artistically beautiful. A crowd of 8,565 paid to watch the game in 41 degree weather. Financially, not so beautiful.

In nine home-away-from-home games at Milwaukee last season the White Sox never drew less than 20,000 fans. The numbers inspired a return for 1969 and two new teams added two more games to the Milwaukee schedule.

It inspired Fred Haney, vice president of the California Angels, to suggest that the only thing preventing the White Sox from making a permanent move out of Chicago was their lucrative radio-television package.

That brought an angry retort from Arthur Allyn, owner of the Sox, who as much as told Haney to mind California's business and not Chicago's.

"I wish they'd get off that kick that we're going to move anywhere," snapped Allyn. "I've said it before. We're not moving to Milwaukee today, next year or ever."

Then, almost as if they were punishing the Angels for Haney's remarks, the White Sox whipped California before the 8,565 Milwaukee fans. Still, that was a mob compared to the 1,058 that watched the same two teams in Chicago the night before.

Elsehwere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore edged Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings, Kansas City nipped Seattle 4-3, Minnesota topped Oakland 7-6 and Washington whacked Boston 9-3. New York's game at Cleveland was postponed by cold weather.

The Angels pushed across a first inning run against Peters but nothing more. Chicago got that one back with some to spare in the fourth when Bradford's third home run of the year produced three runs.

Hits by Sandy Alomar and Carlos May produced another run in the fifth and Chicago wrapped it up with three more in the seventh, two of them scoring on a single by Luis Aparicio.

Mark Belanger, whose two-run homer had tied the game for the Orioles earlier, won it for Baltimore with a 10th-inning single against Denny McLain. That scored Ellie Hendricks, who had opened the 10th with a double ending a string of 21 consecutive batters retired by McLain.

Mike Cuellar allowed five hits in the first three innings and nothing after that to gain his first American League victory for the Orioles.

Chuck Harrison rapped a two-run pinch single in the bottom of the ninth that gave Kansas City its victory over Seattle.

Jerry Adair, whose inside-the-park homer had given the Royals their first run in the seventh, started the winning rally with a one out single. Pinch hitter Bob Taylor doubled and then Harrison delivered the runs with his ingle.

John Roseboro and Rod Carew tagged two-run homers leading Minnesota past Oakland. The Twins had two runs on Catfish Hunter's first two pitches when Ted Uhlaender, who had four hits, opened with a single on the first one and Carew followed with his homer. Carew also drove in two other runs.

Mike Epstein and Ken McMullen poled a pair of three-run homers and Washington belted Boston in Ted Williams' first appearance at Fenway Park as manager of the Senators.

Williams received a warm ovation from the crowd of 28,972 and the Senators reacted just as warmly to Sonny Siebert, making his first start for the Red Sox since coming to Boston in the trade for Ken Harrelson. He lasted just four innings, allowing five runs on seven hits.

Won't Return Medals

Olympic Ski Winners Defy Brundage Demand

CHICAGO (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, demanding return of all Alpine skiing medals because they were tainted with commercialism in the 1968 Winter Games at Grenoble, France, was caught in a ground swell Thursday.

Earl Walters, president of the U.S. Ski Association, implied in Salt Lake City that the trail of commercialism leads throughout the entire Olympic program.

"You could probably eliminate all Olympic competitors on one score or another by sticking strictly to the rules," said Walters.

"The big difference between the skiers and other Olympic participants is that skiers make a little less effort to conceal it than some of the others.

"The truth of the matter is that all athletes in all Olympic sports are receiving financial aid from one source or another, even if its just from their grandmother, in order to prepare themselves from Olympic competition.

"There really isn't that much difference between government subsidy and industry subsidy."

Walters said he didn't think Brundage would be able to get the medals returned and that his attempt will "just create more problems."

Brundage said he has asked the Federation International du Ski (FIS) to reclaim Alpine ski medals won in Grenoble a year ago.

"It is obvious that Alpine skiing has not been properly controlled . . . and it is doubtful if it should be on the Olympic program," said the 81-year-old Chicago millionaire, IOC president since 1952.

Brundage said the future of the Olympic Winter Games will be considered by the IOC meeting in Warsaw, Poland, June 6-10.

Brundage said:

"Articles have been printed listing the payments made by ski manufacturers for Olympic medals.

"In nearly every Olympic Winter Games this sport has been surrounded by scandal and this is inevitable as long as many racers admittedly are in the employ, one way or another, of equipment manufacturers."

France's triple gold medal skier Jean-Claude Killy, said in Paris, "Let Brundage come over here himself and take the medals from me. He would have to go to my home town of Val d'Isere to get them—and I've got a lot of friends there."

Wrestling Tourney Slated

Beaver Local Announces Football, Hoop Schedules

Football and basketball schedules for 1969-1970 were approved at the Beaver Local High School Athletic Association meeting last night.

It was decided to keep ticket prices the same for next season, $1 for adults and $.50 for students. An eight-team wrestling tournament has been scheduled at Beaver Local for next winter. Varsity officals pay has been raised to $17.50 a game.

The current balance of the association is $2,577.42, with an estimated $1,628 in bills due yet this year. With $2,960 needed to start football next fall, the association is looking to raise some money. One project is a pro wrestling show to be held at the school May 10 at 8:45 p.m. featuring George Steel vs. Batman. Tickets are $2.50 and $1.50 and will be sold at the school, Heimie's and Potter Lumber.

The 1968-69 basketball season showed a profit of $1,120.59. Wrestling showed a loss of $1,017.78, including $800 yet due on the new mat. It was pointed out that wrestling boosters contributed considerably to wrestling expenses by buying much of the new equipment and paying about $300 of tournament expenses.

Track expenses to date have been $236.78, baseball expenses $224.112 and golf expenses $10.

The football schedule for 1970 will be the same as in 1969 except that Wellsville will be moved from the last game to the fifth game.

ANN LANDERS

God Called 'Everyman'

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your cavalier treatment of the question from "that nut" who asked if it was true that God is a Catholic, a Negro and a Democrat, was, in my opinion, undeserved.

You should have told the inquirer that God is indeed a Catholic, a Negro and a Democrat. He is also a Hindu, a Jew, a Protestant, Chinese, Japanese and Indian — a Republican, a Socialist and an Independent. He speaks Spanish, Portuguese, Swahili, Russian, German, French, Italian and Thai.

God is a priest, a rabbi, a minister, a merchant, a miner, a farmer, a truck driver, an artist, a physician, a laywer, an architect, an engineer, a musician, a bootblack and a bank president. He is Everyman.—ONE WHO READS YOU OFTEN.

Dear O One: I'm pleased that you read me often. I wish you'd write often. Thanks for a superb letter.

In Time

Dear Ann: Because of so much emphasis on emotional problems and psychiatry these days, a great many parents blame themselves when their children behave obstreperously and get into trouble. I hope you'll print my letter, which proves that parents aren't always at fault.

Lynn is now 4 years old. When I brought her home from the hospital she was screaming. She kept it up 10 to 14 hours a day until she started to walk at age 7 months. The doctor gave ME tranquilizers.

At age 2 Lynn was taking the curtains off the windows regularly between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. She tore up everything in sight, including our wedding album.

I was ashamed to take her in public. She was always covered with cuts and bruises from self-inflicted injuries. She looked like a battered child.

Family and friends told me I was too strict, too lenient, too attentive, not attentive enough. I was loaded wih guilt — convinced it was all my fault.

One day Lynn banged a gash in her head when I insisted that she take a nap. She needed stitches so I rushed her to the doctor's office. When I told him about the child's impossible behavior he had her tested the next day.

The tests revealed that Lynn was a hyperkinetic child. This is a congenital defect, the cause of which is not known.

Thanks to a wonderful doctor, new drugs and therapy, Lynn is well on the way to being a normal youngster. The doctor has said that in a few months she'll not need either drugs or therapy.

If I had taken Lynn to a doctor earlier she would have received help earlier. And time is very important. A friend of mine has a son 7 years old who just started treatment and it might be too late. The boy is already severely emotionally disturbed.

Tell mothers everywhere that if they see these symptoms in their child to run, not walk, to the nearest clinic which does testing. — GRATEFUL.

Dear G: I've printed other letters on this subject, but I'm pleased to print yours. Thank you for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ohio House Action Due On Lower Voting Age

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Ohio House probably will vote within the next two weeks on a resolution calling for lowering the voting age from 21 to 19.

The Senate resolution, which is sponsored by Sens. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton; Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay; Robin T. Turner, R-Marion, and Douglas Applegate, D-Steubenville, will be voted on by the Ohio electorate in November if the House, as expected, approves the resolution by a three - fifths majority.

The resolution was sent to the House rules committee Wednesday by the House state government committee, with the only two dissenting votes cast by Reps. Robert C. Carpenter, R-Tiffin, and Thomas A. Pottenger, R-Cininnati.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Bowling Green, chairman of the rules committee, said he forsees no difficulty in getting the resolution out and onto the floor within the next two weeks.

The Senate approved the measure Feb. 25 by a 30-3 vote. The same resolution was passed by the Senate two years, but failed to get out of the House state government committee.

Passage of the resolution is expected in the House, although the majority may not be as large as that in the Senate.

The biggest single factor in greater legislator acceptance of the lower voting age proposal this session is that the Rhodes administration has publicly endorsed the resolution.

Both parties also are on record as favoring a lower voting age in Ohio. The parties' national and state platforms contain planks spelling out their concern for lowering the age of suffrage.

If legislative opponents fail in stopping the resolution, it is expected that supplementary issues such as lowering the drinking age and allowing those under 21 to run for public office will be used to dissuade the voters in November.

An earlier Senate resolution designed to give legislative intent to lowering the age of majority met a quick death in a committee.

Sponsors and other proponents of the 19-year-old voting resolution have said there is no need to drag in other issues in deciding the fate of the measure.

But, statements such as were made in committee Tuesday by Carpenter could reflect the mood of many House members when the resolution hits the floor.

"I read the other day that one of the first things Hitler did when he took over was lower the voting age. Mussolini followed suit. I think this resolution will result in a ditatorship."

He said it in jest, but given the latest round of disruptions on the campus, even when the resolution passes the House, the lower voting age issue will face its sternest test in the months before the November election.

Symington Sounds Warning

Pentagon Fund Cut Seen Unless ABM Is Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington says Congress may cut Pentagon spending across the board unless the Senate Armed Services Committee defers deployment of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense system.

The Missouri Democrat spoke out Wednesday as the committee completed two days of public hearing on the proposed system to protect U.S. missile sites.

Symington said that in the past 22 years he had never seen the committee reject a single proposed weapons system.

"If on this particular system we can't just once show this should be deferred, I predict that the Senate will recommend —and very possibly the House also—a major across-the-board cut" in the $80 billion Pentagon budget, Symington said. He exempted the $400 million in missile defense research which he believes should continue.

Symington said the hearings had bolstered his position opposing Safeguard, but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., saw the sessions as strengthening the proposal. Eight witnesses appeared.

"All eight have some respect for it," Stennis said. "All eight argue it's the most advanced system we have despite its deficiencies."

To delay deployment, Stennis said, would "burn up precious time" needed to developing a defense against a possible Soviet threat in the mid-1970s.

Stennis also challenged Symington's contention the committee has always rubber-stamped Pentagon requests for new weapons systems. He noted some funds were blocked for the controversial TFX fighter-bomber and the Nike-Hercules, one of the first antimissile systems.

There will be three or four weeks of closed hearing before the committee gets down to voting on the military procurement authorization bill, first of four with Safeguard funds. The measure probably won't get to the full Senate until mid-June at the earliest.

As hearings concluded, Symington said he had been fooled by intelligence estimates of a "bomber gap" and a "missile gap" in the 1950s. Now, he said, the Pentagon is trying to convince the committee the giant Soviet SS9 missile is intended to have a first-strike offensive capability.

Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of Rockefeller University and the National Academy of Sciences, told the committee Wednesday: "The SS9 gives them a great deal of capability." Another witness, Prof. Albert Wohlstetter of the University of Chicago said the crucial thing is that the SS9 is being equipped with multiple warheads.

Symington called the addition of the multiple warhead capability "totally inconsequential."

Testifying against the ABM were Abram Chayes, Harvard law professor and former State Department legal advisor, and Dr. George Rathjens of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who are writing a report on the ABM at the request of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Rathjens said a Pentagon briefing on the ABM had only served to confirm his opposition to it.

"Safeguard in defense of Minuteman would be somewhat less effective than I thought it would be," Rathjens said.

Junior Editors Quiz on— ROLLER SKATES

QUESTION: Why do the wheels of my roller skates whirl around so easily?

ANSWER: When two surfaces are dragged against each other, friction is created. Movement, such as that of a piece of metal revolving inside another piece, is thus slowed down. There are many cases where wheels must revolve very rapidly, such as the wheels of your roller skates. They can do this because of the ball bearings inside your skates' wheels. Notice that the ball in (1) touches the flat surface at only one small point. This reduces friction as it rolls. Inside the wheels of your roller skates are sets of small shiny steel balls (2). These are set in a frame so as not to touch each other. One part of the ball rests on the axis or metal bar going across the skate. The other part takes the weight of the skate and you above it. As the wheels whirl around (4), they spin on the rolling balls with so little friction that they allow you to move very fast. Another important use for ball bearings is in the hub part of your bicycle wheels. These allow the bike's wheels to turn very rapidly and make riding much more fun.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, April 24, the 114th day of 1969. There are 251 days left in the year.

On this date in 1898, Spain declared war on the United States after a U.S. ultimatum demanding Spanish withdrawal from Cuba.

In 1704, the first American newspaper to be printed on a regular basis, the Boston News Letter, began publication.

In 1800, The Englishman who invented the power loom, Edmund Cartwright, was born.

Also in 1800, the Library of Congress was founded.

In 1953, women voted for the first time in Pakistan as extra police protected them from male hecklers.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy put out a statement saying he bore full responsibility for the U.S. role in the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion in Cuba.

In 1965, rebellious army officers and civilians in the Dominican Republic seized control of two radio stations in Santo Domingo and broadcast their intention to oust the government.

Ten years ago—Argentina was trying to cope with river floods which had taken more than 100 lives.

Foe Tells Ohio Senate Committee

Fluoridation Described As 'Gamble With Health'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An opponent to fluoridation of water supplies in Ohio cities has told the State Senate's Education, Health and Welfare Committee that research available on its safety is "unreliable."

Dr. George Waldbott of Detroit, called Wednesday night for a congressional investigation of doctors and others who advocate fluoridation as a health measure and other reasons. He said anyone supporting fluoridation was "gambling with the nation's health."

Waldbott, who admitted he had trouble being recognized by the nation's major medical magazines, warned against a "pro-fluoridation" lobby, which he claimed was "partially sponsored by industry."

He said much research on the effects of fluoridation had been done by scientists for industry "whose results must coincide with industrial interests."

Walbott said he was a specialist in allergies and claimed that "self financed" research showed fluoridation of water had in some cases raised the possibility of cancer as a result of the chemical. He added that treated water adversely affects certain persons with kidney diseases, and in other cases, causes some skin diseases.

Earlier, proponent of fluoridation testified that its use in city water supplies would help cut down tooth decay of children.

In other action, the committee voted to recommend for passage a bill establishing the Mansfield State College.

The Senate Judiciary Committee heard testimony from a number of Ohio sheriffs who opposed certain provisions of a bill that would extend the authority of the Ohio Highway Patrol during civil disorders.

Sheriff Donald Thompson of Fayette County told the committee the Buckeye Sheriffs Aspresent wording of the bill. Thompson said he believed sheriffs should be the supreme law enforcement officer in a county. He said sheriffs should be given the authority to call in extra help during disorders rather than city officials.

The Senate received a bill Wednesday to establish an Ohio Public Facilities Commission which would issue revenue bonds for public capital improvements.

The administration - supported bill allow bonds to be issued, following approval of the General Assembly, for improvements in mental hygiene and retardation, state supported and assisted institutions of higher education, parks and recreation facilities.

According to one administration spokesman, the bill amounts to implementation of a $740 million bond issue approved by voters last November.

A related bill dealing with implementation of the bond issue passed the Senate 30-0.

It included an amendment that would require the state to pay 2.5 per cent annually on the principal of any approved bond issue.

Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D-33 Youngstown, said it would prohibit the state from rolling over notes while it awaits a more favorable climate in the bond market.

According to Carney, the state on one occasion paid $30 million in interest payments alone on short term notes while nothing has been paid on the principal of the bond issue.

In the House, a bill passed 91-1 which permits residents 65 years old and over to buy a permanent fishing license for $2.

Summer 1969 will mark the 100th anniversary of Maj. John Wesley Powell's perilous journey down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. The first explorer to brave the Colorado, Powell put the unknown canyon country of the Colorado River system on maps.

Flood Loss Already Tops $100 Million

By The Associated Press

Damage in part of the Midwestern flood zone was placed at more than $100 million Wednesday as Illinois and Iowa braced for the approaching crest of the Mississippi River.

The flood threat appeared to be over for Minnesota and Wisconsin, and officials were optimistic that damage in Illinois and Iowa would be minimal because of flood preparations.

The Army Corps of Engineers said damage for northern Iowa, eastern North Dakota, western Wisconsin and all but the southwestern edge of Minnesota was $109.4 million. They added that $7.5 million for emergency dike construction prevented an additional $145-million loss in these areas.

The Mississippi crested at 21.5 feet Wednesday at Prairie du Chien, Wis., without incident. Floodwaters there receded steadily today and upstream at LaCrosse, Wis., but 600 Wisconsin families still faced a period of waiting before they could return to their homes.

Lowland streams rose in New England hit by heavy rains earlier this week, and a dozen families were evacuated from a trailer park in Brattleboro, Vt., as the Whitestone River flowed over its banks.

And the Weather Bureau has warned of a substantial rise in the Connecticut River, which flows through Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Crop damage rose in California's San Joaquin Valley as snow melting from the Sierra Nevada covered 75,000 acres of barley, cotton and safflower. Damage was placed at $10 million. Another 25,000 acres of crops could be inundated, officials said.

Hospital Treats Boy, Woman After Mishaps

A city woman injured on a car door and a Chester boy hurt in a fall were treated at City Hospital Wednesday and released.

Mrs. Patricia Bittner of Box 660 suffered a cut on the right index finger which became caught in a car door. Scott Wright, son of William Wright of 513 Florida Ave., received a bruise on the head in a fall at home.

Defense Eyes New Trial In Sirhan's Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury believed Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's mind was impaired, says juror George Stitzel, but not to a degree to affect its verdict—death in the gas chamber for the assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

What of the month-long testimony from psychiatrists and psychologists as the defense tried to prove Sirhan lacked the mental capacity to form a mature and meaningful plot against Kennedy?

"It stunk—I don't buy that stuff," said Albert N. Federico, another juror. He expressed his view to newsmen after the verdict was announced in court Wednesday.

Stitzel, 57, a pressroom foreman at the Los Angeles Times, was asked: What was the overriding consideration that made him vote the death penalty?

"The gravity of the crime," he told newsmen. "The cold-blooded murder of an individual. A planned murder."

Did he believe the jury would have decreed death if the victim had not been Kennedy, a candidate for president? "I think we would . . . as long as it was this cold-blooded, heinous crime."

Other jurors said the same thing.

By most jurors' accounts, the first vote was eight in favor of the death penalty, two in favor of life in prison, and two undecided. For the next two ballots it was 10 for death, one for life, one undecided. The fourth ballot, on Wednesday morning, was unanimous. The original holdouts were not identified.

Under California law, the same jury which finds a defendant guilty sets the penalty in a later trial. Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker set May 14 for the formal sentencing. State law provides for an automatic review in capital punishment cases and Sirhan's lawyers have said they will move for a new trial. Judge Walker also has the power to reduce the penalty to life in prison.

SIRHAN B. SIRHAN
Sentenced To Death.

Grant Cooper, chief defense lawyer, said the appeal would be taken of both the first-degree murder verdict and the death sentence. He said there would be three major points:

—That Judge Walker did not exercise discretion in rejecting a pretrial deal allowing Sirhan to plead guilty to first - degree murder and be sentenced to life. Walker insisted the case was too important worldwide to be set-

U.S. Offers New Troop Pullout Plan

Urges Hanoi Join In Withdrawal Of 'Outside Forces'

PARIS (AP) — The United States today urged North Vietnam to join in practical steps immediately to begin withdrawing outside forces of both sides from South Vietnam.

Speaking at the 14th enlarged session of the Vietnam peace talks, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared that this could start a series of events to end the war. He said he saw "no good reason why that process should not begin soon."

North Vietnam representative Xuan Thuy, however, replied that the only foreign troops in South Vietnam were those of the United States and its allies and what is needed is their withdrawal.

Thuy's statement seemed to rebuff, at least for the present, Lodge's appeal to end "historical" exchanges and get down to practical problems.

Tran Buu Kiem, representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, also continued to press a hard-line policy. He insisted that the way to end the war was for the United States to withdraw its forces and stop clinging to the present Saigon administration.

The U.S. representative said the talks had spent 13 weeks going into the history of the Vietnam conflict and that it is now time to begin serious negotiations.

"Let us, therefore, now get down to the task of bringing the war in Vietnam to an end," he said. "Let us seek practical solutions to practical problems.

"There is one practical step, which both sides can take, that would go a long way to bring the fighting to an end. That step is for the external forces on both sides to begin the process of withdrawal from South Vietnam."

Lodge repeated that the United States is "prepared to begin the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Vietnam simultaneously with the external forces on your side."

Lodge said he saw no reason why the military and political aspects of a settlement could not be worked out at the same time. He stressed the word "practical" several times in his statement.

In an apparent reference to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong objections to negotiating with the present Saigon regime,

Industrialists Tour Plant

Some 230 members of the Refractories Institute of America toured Globe Refractories, Inc., near Newell, this morning as guests of William Porter, Globe president, and the Globe staff.

Porter, pointing, explains an automated procedure at the plant to Myron Coleman, left, president of the F. J. Dando Co. of Irondale, and D. J. Stefl, vice president of the Freeport (Pa.) Brick Co., as James Roslund, Globe research director, right, watches.

The institute, a national organization which studies the problems of producers and consumers in the industry, is headed by Max Muller of Cleveland, president of Basic, Inc., of Cleveland. Porter is treasurer and Avery Newton of Pittsburgh is executive secretary.

The tour this morning was followed with a luncheon at the Millsop Community Center in Weirton, hosted by the Weirton Steel Co. Later the group visited the Weirton Steel Co.'s new basic oxygen furnace facility known as the "Mill of the Future."

With the group were institute members from across the nation and from Mexico, Porter said.

Giant Craft Strike Near Cambodia

Attacks Are Aimed Primarily At Two Hanoi Divisions

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers made their heaviest raids of the Vietnam war Wednesday night near the Cambodian border, dropping more than 2,000 tons of bombs along a 30-mile stretch northwest of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported.

The targets of the giant Stratofortresses were enemy bases in the Viet Cong's War Zone C, where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have built a network of camouflaged roads and infiltration routes on which to move supplies and troops from Cambodia into Vietnam. Some of the bombing was within a mile and a half of the border.

The air attacks were aimed primarily at the North Vietnamese 1st and 7th divisions, which reportedly have pulled back to the border to receive replacements for heavy losses suffered during the Viet Cong's spring offensive, now in its ninth week.

The targets in War Zone C were given top priority, and B52 raids on the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos were temporarily curtailed to permit a heavier concentration against the Canbodian border bases.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong offensive dwindled to 11 rocket and mortar attacks Wednesday night, with over-all damage and casualties reported light as usual.

Ground fighting again was scattered, but in one fierce clash Wednesday five miles south of the demilitarized zone, eight U.S. Marines were killed and 19 wounded by North Vietnamese troops firing heavy weapons from caves. The bodies of 14 North Vietnamese were found after the fight.

Two more U.S. helicopters were shot down Wednesday, killing nine Americans and wounding three. This raised the

New York College Still Closed

Cornell U. Drops Counts Against 3

By The Associated Press

The Cornell University faculty reversed its earlier decision and quashed disorder charges against three Negro students, but the Ithaca, N.Y. campus hasn't returned to normal.

City College of New York remained closed, demonstrations began at two Washington, D.C., universities and Princeton University, while protests continued at some other schools.

About 1,100 faculty members at Cornell reversed their Monday night stand and acceded to the demands of the Afro-American Society, in an attempt to halt fear and tension heightened by a 7,000-student "teach-in" at Barton Hall and the presence near the campus of 245 riot-trained deputy sheriffs.

A number of classes were suspended again today, to permit discussion of issues raised by five days of turmoil, touched off when militant blacks, armed with shotguns and rifles, took over the student center.

President James A. Perkins, who pleaded with the faculty to change its decision, said, "My optimism for the immediate and long-range future of Cornell has enormously increased."

The chairman of the government department, Dr. Allen P. Sindler, submitted his "irrevocable" resignation, and denounced the faculty's reversal as "a complete capitulation to coercion." Other professors complained of threatening

Nixon Urges Penny Boost For Mailing Most Letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appealed to Congress today for a penny boost in the cost of mailing most letters and promised to outline a major overhaul of the Post Office Department within 45 days.

In a special message, Nixon proposed increases in rates for first-, second- and third-class mail that he said would yield more than $600 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The first-class letter rate would be boosted one cent to seven cents and stamps for postcards would cost six cents, effective July 1, under his plan.

Airmail rates—now 10 cents—would not be changed.

Without these and other proposed increases—affecting newspapers and magazines and the bulk mailings often termed "junk mail"— Nixon said the Post Office Department's deficit in the coming fiscal year would approach $1.2 billion.

He said higher rates would help achieve two important goals: Control of inflation by bringing the federal budget into better balance and improvement of the postal service.

If approved it would be the fourth postal rate increase since 1958 when the rate went from three to four cents for a letter. The price went up one cent in 1963 and again Jan. 7, 1968.

Although he called for higher rates, Nixon stated: "This administration is determined that the cycle of greater and greater postal deficits and more and more rate increases will be broken."

"The only way to break that cycle is through effective, long-

Yegg 'Scrambled'

Police said Glen Mellon reported that a knife-wielding man in his early 20s approached him in an alley in the rear of Mellon's home as he was returning from a store.

Mellon said the young man demanded money. Mellon replied by hurling a carton of eggs at the bandit, who fled dripping scrambled eggs.

Sheriff Fight Hearing Set For Tuesday

A hearing will be held Tuesday by the West Virginia Supreme Court at Charleston on the latest action in the disputed Hancock County sheriff's race.

Involved is a petition requesting that the high court order the Hancock County Court to reopen hearings into the election of Republican Ralph J. Patrick Jr. to the post.

The action was filed by Democrat Lou Smoleski, who was elected originally last November and then removed from office in favor of Patrick following a recheck of questioned ballots in a Weirton precinct.

Warming Trend Due After Frost Tonight

Living Cost Rise Biggest In 18 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House sources insist last month's jump in living costs—biggest in 18 years—doesn't mean a new twist upward in the inflation spiral.

"We don't foresee an increase in the price trend, we foresee a decrease," said a Nixon administration source. "But this should increase the worry about the state of the economy and the need for economic restraint."

The Labor Department Wednesday reported that the cost of living rose eight-tenths of one per cent in March, the biggest jump since the Korean war year of 1951.

Last month's index was 125.6, meaning it cost $12.56 to buy what $10 would have purchased in typical family goods and services in the 1957-59 base period. A substantial rise was reported for food, clothing and gasoline.

Wholesale prices of foodstuffs and industrial raw materials also rose sharply, five-tenths of one-percent, bringing that index to 111.7, a rise of 3.2 per cent in a year.

"During the first quarter of this year, consumer prices rose 1.5 per cent, the sharpest rate of advance for any three-month period since May-July, 1956," said the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. "The index now stands 5.1 per cent above a year ago."

Allocation Figure Awaited

4 Street Programs Here Qualify For State Funds

City officials have been informed that four proposed highway improvement programs here quualify for state funds from Issue No. 1, approved by Ohio voters last November.

Mayor George Willshaw, City Engineer George Bloomgren and Robert E. Vodrey, safety-service director, were briefed on the aid during a meeting in Columbus Wednesday with Ohio Department of Highways officials.

Willshaw said this morning that the three met with J. W. Wilson, chief engineer for the highway department; Thomas Major, a deputy director in charge of design and location; Sen. Douglas Applegate of Jefferson county, and Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Columbiana County.

The city officials, now awaiting the state formula for distribution of the funds from the bond issue, has proposed that $880,000 be allocated for the four projects here.

Bloomgren said the city added the fourth program to the three proposals outlined last week in a meeting with area legislators — installation of a storm sewer along Pennsylvania Ave. between Dewey and Oakland Aves.

Bloomgren pointed out that previously the storm water had flowed into Columbian Park, but since the area is being filled Pennsylvania Ave. is flooded during heavy rain.

The other three projects include improvement of Shadyside Ave., jointly with the county; widening and surfacing of Maine Blvd., and extension of the Lake - to - River Freeway from Jefferson St. to an interchange at Park Way in the East End.

Bloomgren said the Shadyside Ave. project would total about $150,000. The city would include sidewalks and some additional drainage in its portion of the improvement, but county commissioners feel sidewalks are not necessary along their stretch of roadway.

Maine Blvd. has an estimated price tag of $240,000, although Bloomgren said it might cost more. He added that in addition to the concrete roadway, the city also proposed to elim-

Contract Let On Calcutta's Post Office

The First National Bank has been named the successful bidder on construction and leasing of the planned new Calcutta Post Office.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays announced today the Postal Department has designated the city bank to build and lease the structure.

Robert Boyce, bank president, said plans call for completion of the one - story brick building at the St. Clair Plaza six months after start of construction. The builder will be the Potters Construction Co.

The building will have 3,205 square feet of interior space, with 10,680 square feet of parking. It will be located at the rear of the bank's drive-in facility at the entrance of the Calcutta plaza.

The contract terms are for leasing it from the bank at $7,200 a year for 10 years.

The present postal facility is at the Potters Lumber Co. store at the plaza and is a branch of the city post office. Plans call for the new facility to have its own identity and zip code.

Samuel W. Brown, city postmaster, said the new building is designed to meet the growing needs of the rapidly developing St. Clair district, and will be larger than the present East End branch building.

Brown said the Calcutta building will have boxes for use by the patrons of the area, and that the rural carriers for that district will operate out of the new structure to be closer to those they serve.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

A Tip On Cleaning Plastic

DEAR HELOISE: How can I clean an inexpensive white plastic bag that looks like patent leather? Mine is last year's model and looks awful.

MRS. McCREE.

-:-

All I can tell you is how I cleaned my pocketbook.

First I used a wash cloth and some warm soapy suds and got off what I could.

Next I poured some lighter fluid (follow CAUTION directions on container — it IS flammable, you know) on two facial tissues and wiped away. And, did it ever clean it! I thought I had a nearly new purse.

About that pinkish stuff on the handle and around the top of the purse. . .the lighter fluid helped remove it but didn't take it all off, so I decided that from now on when I purchase an inexpensive, light-colored, plastic purse that I will clean it each month or so with the fluid.

The lighter fluid did not hurt my plastic. I paid three dollars for the purse and figured I had nothing to lose.

But Heloise, I found a way! Just pre-heat the squash for ten minutes and it's as easy as cutting an orange!

MILDRED NEWMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When a button must be removed from a garment, the task will be simplified, and the possibility of damaging the material will be avoided, if the tines of a fork are inserted between the cloth and the button and a razor blade is used to cut the threads.

MRS. MILTON SUSSMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: We have been having very strong winds lately and our climbing rose broke from its moorings.

Having nothing else on hand I braided three old nylon stockings and tied the plant up with this. Made a beautiful braid and did the job perfectly.

MRS. JOHN NOLEN.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Each morning my houseful of "gremlins" make their beds before they go to school.

They know it's much easier than coming home to find that Mom has made the bed HER WAY.

Whenever Mom finds an unmade bed, she strips it, folds the spread, blankets, sheets and pillowcases and places them neatly at the foot of the gremlin's bed.

It's much simpler to make a bed in the morning than to start from scratch in order to have a bed to sleep in that night.

Hope this may work for other frustrated gremlin trainers.

MAMA GREMLIN.

DEAR HELOISE: Please warn your mothers that baby powder can be very dangerous in the hands of toddlers and infants.

If the powder is accidently spilled on a baby's face, and too much is inhaled, it can cause death.

Always keep powder cans out of the reach of children.

I don't think enough parents are aware of this.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cut hard-boiled eggs in half, I always dip my sharpest knife in boiling water first.

Do you know that they won't break or crumble if you do this?

Three Speakers Are Heard During Ministers' Meeting

Three speakers in various fields addressed members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Wednesday morning at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Allen Conway, president, was in charge.

Leo Lawrence, co - chairman of "Citizens Who Care," stressed the need for renewal of two school levies at the May 6 primary election.

Miss Ann Riedel, county home extension agent, discussed the work of her department, including efforts to assist families in meal planning.

Mrs. J. M. Brand outlined the "Friendly Town" program sponsored by Cleveland's Inner City Protestant Parish. Under the project, children living in inner Cleveland spend 10 days during the summer with suburban and rural families in various parts of Ohio.

The association went on record in support of the levies and voted to contribute $50 to the Citizens Committee for promoting passage.

The association also voted $100 for the Tri - State Hospital Chaplaincy Association for its work at City and the Osteopathic hospitals.

Area clergymen participating in the nationwide consultation on church union will attend the May 28 meeting to discuss further support of the COCU.

Militray Intelligence Setup Questioned By Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., whose investigation of the Pueblo capture has broadened to include the loss of a Navy reconnaissance plane, says he wants to know how the military's intelligence system is run and if it is conducting too many missions.

Pike says there is high-level confusion in the Navy about which intelligence missions need protection. He cited messages about the Pueblo which never reached top commanders and said he wants to know if the same thing happened with the EC121, shot down over the Sea of Japan by North Korean MIGs April 15.

"This incident is one of a package," Pike said. "I have some very fundamental questions on how necessary the volume of our missions is."

Some of those questions may be directed to Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, a scheduled witness when the subcommittee resumes open hearings Friday.

Time lags in reporting such incidents to top officials in Washington are especially vexing, said the New York Democrat, chairman of the House Armed Services special subcommittee on the Pueblo.

The First Hundred Days

It is customary in American politics to give a new president a report card after his first 100 days in office.

As it is used in politics, the phrase "one hundred days" has nothing to do with its grim origin. History's Hundred Days was the period between March 20 and June 28, 1815, the interval between Napoleon Bonaparte's entry into Paris after his escape from Elba and his abdication. The most momentous event of the period was the crucial defeat at Waterloo on June 18.

FOR SOME REASON, American political observers started the hundred-days assessment in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration and the pratice has become traditional.

Perhaps it was the whirlwind of legislation that President Roosevelt herded through the special session of the 73rd Congress that stirred up the political buffs.

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. describes the birth of the New Deal period in these words: "Congress and the country were subjected to a presidential barrage of ideas and programs unlike anything known to American history."

In his first hundred days, President Roosevelt was given extraordinary powers for combatting the depression and promoting recovery through the passage of 15 major measures.

Almost blind approval was given to Mr. Roosevelt's programs and the National Industrial Recovery Act which was signed on the day the congressional session adjourned, was later struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Close cooperation marked the first hundred days of Harry S. Truman as congress gave him a free hand to carry out foreign policies of the administration.

Only major legislation approved in the first hundred days of President Eisenhower's first term was that creating the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

John F. Kennedy's hundred days in 1961 saw six of 16 major measures requested by the administration clear Congress including the Fair Labor Standards Amendments.

President Johnson, at the end of his first hundred days, was able to assess the record by citing enactment of "10 of the 15 appropriation bills . . . that were carried over from last year . . . the greatest education Congress in the history of our land . . . the new tax (reduction) bill . . . (and) men and women working together."

And while he has not inundated Congress with a flood of proposed legislation, there are few who would fault him so far on his performance.

Mr. Nixon appears to be applying what he learned from President Eisenhower who stressed a more leisurely pace in the White House.

It seems, then, that a mile-long list of legislation is not necessary to a successful first hundred days.

MR. NIXON is being careful in formulating his domestic program but he has been putting a lot of shoulder into the effort to promote understanding with our foreign friends and potential enemies.

In an age when foreign-policy decisions play such a prominent role in shaping the future of the world, ability in the international arena has to be considered in measuring the worth of a president.

A critic of the "old" Nixon, former Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson, has this to say about the President's foreign considerations: "I would give the President a hit for each time he has been at bat in the first hundred days."

It is to the benefit of the world if Mr. Nixon can continue to have a good day at bat in the unpredictable game of politics.

Growing Suburban Problem

The growing problem of private well contamination in suburban and rural areas of the nation was outlined Monday at Pittsburgh for a convention of Pennsylvania township supervisors.

"Of the one million private wells in the state, half are contaminated by sewage," Wesley Gilbertson told the township representatives. He blamed septic tanks in areas of poor soil or congested population.

He declared nearly half of the 25,000 samples of water from private wells sent to his department for testing were found to be contaminated.

His solution: public water supplies and sewage systems on a countywide basis to replace septic tanks and wells.

Columbiana County has already begun to implement such plans which seem to be an obvious need in districts where housing grows apace and water requirements are not being met. Such projects will take considerable financing, as opponents of the St. Clair proposal are aware.

But the health factors and economic development potential in adequate water and sewage facilities are far too important to be written off as unnecessary expenses. Hopefully, the St. Clair district will get water soon, with sewage disposal to follow, and other suburban areas in the tri - state area will continue to lay the foundation for these public programs on which the next generation of citizens depends.

Sound Of Music

If a high school band or chorus is going to sound good, chances are the musicians will be at their best at the spring concert in which the seniors with their experience and mature talent perform their finale.

The familiar marches and bits of overtures are generally interspersed with some lighter selections and touches of novelty and the modern to provide a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

Parents are obligated to attend, but the casual music devotee might discover some worthwhile live entertainment in contrast to the flickering image of TV re-runs by visiting an area high school auditorium this month.

Understanding Prof.

By Art Buchwald

One of the things that impresses people about the student demonstrations is the strong stand that some members of the faculty are taking on the issues.

I was on the campus of Northammesty University and ran into a professor who was trying to stop h nose from bleeding. His clothes were torn up and he was walking with a pronounced limp.

Art Buchwald

"What happened, Professor?" I asked, as I helped him search for this glasses.

"The militant students just took over my office and threw me down the stairs."

"What, that's terrible," I said.

"FROM MY POINT OF VIEW it is but I think we have to look at it from their point of view. Why did they throw me down the stairs? Where have we, as faculty, failed them?"

"Are you going to press charges?"

"On the contrary. If I presssed charges, I would only be playing into the hands of the repressive forces outside the university who would like nothing better than to see the students arrested for assault."

"But they did assault you?"

"Yes. I have to admit I was surprised about that. But there was one heartening note. As they threw me down the stairs, one of the students yelled, 'It isn't you, Professor. It's the system.' "

"THAT MUST HAVE MADE you feel better."

"As I was tumbling down, the thought did occur to me that at least there was nohing personal in it."

"Say, Professor, isn't that the philosophy building going up in flames?"

"I believe it is. Now, why did they have to go and set fire to the philosophy building?"

"I was going to ask you that."

"I'm not quite sure but I haven't seen any of the students since they threw me down the stairs. My guess is that it probably has to do with something the administration did and the students are at odds about."

"But that's a terrible thing."

"I don't think we should make judgments until all facts are in. I would say burning down a philosophy building could be interpreted as an unlawful act. At the same time, there are moments when an unlawful act can bring about just reforms."

"But the books, the records, the papers are all going up in smoke. Shouldn't we at least call the fire department?"

"I don't believe the fire department should be called until the faculty has met and voted on what course of action should be taken. There are times when a fire department can only inflame a situation. We should also hear from the students who started the fire and get their side of it.

"After all, they have as much stake in the university as anyone else and if they don't make a philosophy building, we should at least listen to their arguments."

"I never thought of it that way," I admitted. "Professor, I know you can't see very well without your glasses but I believe the militant students over at the guadrangle are building a scaffold. They wouldn't hang anyone, would they?"

"THEY HAVEN'T BEFORE," the professor said, "But it's quite possible that this is their way of seeking a confrontation with the establishment."

As we were talking, a group of students rushed up and grabbed the professor. "We got one here," the ringleader shouted. "Get the rope."

"Don't worry, Professor," I shouted as I pushed away by the mob. "I'll get the police."

"I wish you wouldn't," he said calmly, as the students led him toward the scaffold. "If we don't let the students try new methods of activism, they'll never know for themsleves which ones work and which ones are counterproductive."

Odd Facts

The most abundant of all birds in the world are the Wilson's petrels, or "Mother Carey's chickens." They are also the smallest of all sea birds and inhabit all oceans of the world except the north Pacific.

One of the earliest schools to become a great center for one special field of study was in Bologna, Italy — a school of law which was founded in A. D. 1088 and which by the beginning of the 13th century had 10,000 students.

Labor Talks It Over

WASHINGTON — Deep inside labor, a handful of awesomely well-informed men are saying that the U.S. will be moving out of South Vietnam's waterlogged trenches "by midsummer." The war "will bottom out" then, they have been told.

Victor Riesel

This is reported as flatly as they put it, since "they" are the same sources which told this columnist — well in advance (almost a year) — that Lyndon Johnson planned to support Saigon with over 500,000 troops. Grim history has corroborated the accuracy of labor's intelligence sources.

It has been said that these sources are in labor's own alleged "state department," or its own so-called foreign service, or its own long channels of information cutting across the world. This is not so. Their information came directly from the President of the U.S. There is a new President. A Republican President. But there is no need to assume that labor's sources went the way of all transitions.

Thus it is consequential to report that, in these labor circles at least, they are talking of the beginning of the "phase-out of the war" coming in some 90 days.

THERE IS EVIDENCE that President Nixon and labor prexy George Meany are eager to develop an intimate relationship between the new administration and the old movement — perhaps as close as it was between the immediate past president and organized labor. The machine-gun swiftness of news explosions during the past eight years has blurred the memory of the early antagonism between Lyndon Johnson and labor. So awkward was the early "political romance," it took a public dinner and open confessions of mutual affection to make peace amid avowed pledges to "bury the hatchet." Today Mr. Nixon's low-voiced approach has made the honeymoon with labor easier than the first days with Mr. Johnson.

President Nixon, having sent his first team to the AFL-CIO's think-in at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., now has invited labor's first team, the full squad, to the White House for a long private discussion.

They will be led to the White House early on May 5 for their first en masse dialogue with Richard Nixon (scheduled on the President's personal calendar for 10:15 a.m.).

This will be six months, almost to the very hour, since this very same team threw everything it had into a truly last-minute drive to defeat Dick Nixon. But the name-calling is forgotten now. Each side wants to live with each other as warmly, as pleasantly and as long as possible. And as publicly as feasible.

When the President's economic policy team drove over to the Greenbrier Hotel last week, they went with instructions not to rile the hosts. Only the shrewd old infighter, crusty Dr. Arthur Burns, Mr. Nixon's chief home-front adviser, bristled now and then when the labor chiefs pressed hard for answers. On the other side, the labor contingent was sworn to an "Omerta" the likes of which newsmen have not encountered since we used to hide in conference room closets to learn who was insulting whom.

THUS IT WILL BE when the 29-man AFL-CIO Executive Council visits with Richard Nixon that Monday morning.

Mr. Nixon will be pressed hard — since Mr. Meany can't really control all those labor chiefs. There will be much heated talk about "tax justice." This is labor's thing for 1969. Its followers are screaming under the load. They want action now — and the observer need only look at the United Steelworkers election to see where rank-and-file members dumped some famed district directors who had been advocating public programs which would cost additional public monies.

There are maritime union chiefs on the council who see the death of five to seven thousand jobs on lush American liners and old freighters, now being laid up. And these men will push Mr. Nixon with demands for a new merchant marine.

There are men whose industries are being hit hard by imports — and they will urge Mr. Nixon to use his presidential power to choke these off in steel, shoes, textiles and manufactured goods flowing in from across the world in general and from Mexico in particular.

THERE ARE THOSE who will jump him with demands for a $2-an-hour minimum wage. And all of them will demand more spending, not less, to implement the programs of the Kenney and Johnson administrations.

They will urge him to spend and spend — and if he won't advocate this, at least would he please not oppose the liberal-labor controlled Congress when it sends up the bills.

They will argue for the end of tight money. They will say there is "no mechanical trade-off between inflation and unemployment." Their position is that this is "economically false and loaded with social dynamite."

There are those, including George Meany, who believe that the State Department is too dovish, much to eager for an entente with the Soviet Union and North Vietnam. They may say so.

But it will all be soft-voiced. Both sides want this honeymoon to last as long — and as pleasantly — as possible. They must live together for four years, perhaps eight years, and in the lives of the elders of labor, this is a lifetime.

And in the course of living together, both sides are getting to know a great deal about each other. Thus, what is being said deep inside labor's high command is of deep significance to the people.

Go-Ahead To Burn Flag

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court did not help the cause of law and order in America by reversing this week two decisions of the lower courts which had convicted one man of threatening, in 1966, to kill LBJ and another of burning the American flag, both of which are violations of law. In each instance, "freedom of speech" was given a much wider latitude than ever before.

In the flag-burning case, five justices voted to reverse the conviction and four dissented.

The defendant had been convicted of violating a law of New York State which makes it an offense to "mutilate, deface, defile or defy, trample upon or cast contempt upon, either by words or act," the American flag.

ALL OF THE STATES of the union and the District of Columbia have such laws. But the high court declared the flag-burning was just an expression of protest.

Testimony was given that the defendant had cried out, "We don't need no damn flag," and that, when asked whether he had burned the flag, he had said, "Yes; that is my flag; I burned it."

Yet the majority of the court concluded that this "amounted only to somewhat excited public advocacy of the idea that the United States should abandon, at least temporarily, one of its national symbols."

The whole debate centered on whether the man was convicted solely for the burning of the flag or for the words he used when he denounced the flag.

Justice Harlan's majority opinion argued that the words themselves were permissible and that it was not clear from the lower court's decisions whether the individual was being punished for desecrating the flag or for his utterances. But the justice added:

"We are still bound to reverse if the conviction could have been based upon both his words and his act."

Chief Justice Warren declared, however, that the court had refused to meet the basic question and had instead searched "microscopically for the opportunity to decide he case." He said a reading of the trial record convinced him that the man was convicted solely on evidence of burning the flag.

The chief justice expressed his belief that "the states and the federal government do have the power to protect the flag from acts of desecration and distrace."

Justice White, in his dissenting opinion, asserted that it was "sheer fancy to conclude that the trial court convicted him for speech alone and acquitted him of flag-burning." He commented:

"The court has spun an intricate, technical web but I fear it has ensnared itself in its own remorseless logic and arrived at a result having no support in the facts of the case or the governing law."

Cases of this kind unquestionably are noted by lawyers throughout the country and some of them are active in advising campus rioters and various organizations which are stirring up unrest in America.

If the Supreme Court of the United States says that a conviction even for desecration of the flag may not be sustained if the act of burning is tied in with speech related to a protest of some kind, this line of argument undoubtedly will be utilized by other offenders who are engaged in riots and disturbances.

The Supreme Court also brushed aside in another case, by means of a technicality, the conviction of a man who, during a rally at the Washington Monument grounds in August 1966, made a threat against the life of President Johnson.

THIS WILL HAVE a profound effect on the various demonstrators and organizers of marches which disturb domestic peace. They are constantly emphasizing an intention to create violence.

Mob psychology is responsible for much of the disorder in American cities. Persons who wish to instigate trouble manage by shouting epithets and throwing rocks and bottles to stir up animosities, particularly on racial problems.

If the laws of the land which forbid incitement to violence are being ignored by rulings which insist that all this is a part of a symbolic protest on public questions, the unrest in America is likely to be intensified rather than diminished.

The faculty also voted to develop a discipline system which all sides consider fair.

About 50 white radicals occupied Klapper Hall, adjacent to South Campus, to support the Black and Puerto Rican Student Coalition demands for greater enrollment of minority group students among the college's 20,000 undergraduates and for a separate school of black studies.

Gallagher told a faculty meeting: "I will push hard for a separate school for black and Puerto Rican studies."

About a dozen students, led by Students for a Democratic Society, stormed the administration building at American University in Washington, D.C., and evicted the president. Eight hours later they were forced out by a band of youths led by fraternity members. There was brief scuffling but no reported injuries.

At George Washington University in Washington, 30 SDS members ended at 3:15 a.m., a takeover of the Institute of Sino-Soviet Studies after the administration gave them 15 minutes to clear the building or it would enforce a court restraining order. During their five-hour protest, the students smashed funiture, broke windows and ripped up files.

They demanded abolition of the institute, the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, the Naval Logistics Research Laboratory and the Human Resources Office and sought open enrollment for Negroes.

SDS members at Princeton blocked the entrance to the Institute for Defense Analyses, which does Defense Department research, but left after three hours when police arrived. In several scuffles between students, the dean of students was knocked to the ground.

At other campuses:

Cambridge, Mass.—Prof. Henry Rosovsky, a leader in setting up Harvard University's black studies program, resigned as chairman of the standing committee on Afro-American studies, to protest a faculty vote allowing six students to vote on nominations of faculty members to the Afro-American studies department.

Officials at hte Massachusetts Institute of Technology promised to look into MIT's link with defense projects. Defense Department figures show MIT led all universities in fiscal 1967 with $92.4 million allocated for military work.

Syracuse, N.Y.—Hundreds of students boycotted classes to protest an increase in tuition. No incidents were reported.

Kingston, R.I.—About 400 students listened to ROTC cadets defend their program against demands to ban it from the University of Rhode Island campus. Many applauded the cadets enthusiastically.

Hampton, Va.—About 50 students remained overnight in Hampton Institute's administration building, to press demands for higher salaries for instructors and an investigation of the high faculty turnover rate. About 300 students began the sit-in Wednesday after 2,000 students voted to boycott classes.

inate a curve along the lower stretch of the street by purchasing a small amount of property and filling a culvert.

The storm sewer project in the East End would cost another $68,000, he estimates.

The Freeway extension, the total estimated cost of which will run at least $8,000,000, will cost the city some $400,000, 5 per cent of the over-all total.

The state's share will run 45 per cent and the federal government will pick up the remaining 50 per cent of the tab.

Willshaw said the city's share could be paid by the state through Issue No. 1 revenue without any conflict. The state still would pay its 45 per cent.

Bloomgren said city officials have asked the state to carry the freeway project as far as Park Way because it is a natural stopping point. There will be an interchange there.

He pointed out the over-all design of the extension will depend on the topography and no one is sure of it at present, but cement walls along Pennsylvania Ave. and some marginal housing definitely will be removed by the right-of-way.

He explained that planning for the new section of the four-lane road will consume "all of this year and next."

Bloomgren said Wilson stated yesterday that all four of the projects qualify under the provisions of the act, but that the city now must await an apportionment formula before the money becomes available, about July 1.

Both state legislators said they would do everything possible to see that the city receives its fair share of the money.

Willshaw said the three will set a meeting soon in New Philadelphia with Wezel and Applegate and Division 11 officials relative to the four projects.

He noted at that time there probably will be a conclusion reached about the exact amount of money the city will receive.

The north rim of the Grand Canyon was inhabited about A.D. 600, with the population gradually increasing. Then about 1150, at the height of their population, they departed forever.

Sirhan

—That the grand jury which indicted Sirhan was not properly constituted.

—That Sirhan's private notebooks were seized illegally and should not have been placed in evidence. In them, Sirhan wrote repeatedly: "RFK must die."

For the time being, Sirhan will be held in the Hall of Justice here, where he has been a prisoner since shooting Kennedy last June 5. A bill now before the state legislature would allow him to be held at Vacaville Medical Facility rather than on San Quentin's death row. State officials feel he can be isolated from other prisoners better there.

In the clamor of much public opposition to the death penalty, no one has been executed in the United States since June 2, 1967, when Louis Monge went to the Colorado gas chamber for the bludgeon slaying of his wife and three children. California has had only one execution in six years—that of Aaron Mitchell, 38, who died April 12, 1967 for the murder of a Sacramento policeman during a robbery. Eighty are under death sentence in California.

When the jury's verdict was announced in the crowded courtroom, Sirhan paled but remained silent.

Cooper said Sirhan reassured him a short time later in a cell that he knew his attorneys did their best. He told Cooper:

"Even Jesus Christ couldn't have saved me."

Cooper who once was president of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, was near tears when he faced newsmen after the first death verdict of his career.

The jury's decision, Cooper said, was due to "an overriding feeling by the community in the entire United States in favor of law and order." It was fueled, he added, by concern about student unrest and the prominence of Sirhan's victim.

"Im only suggesting these jurors are governed by the same emotions of love and hate that you and I have," he said. "They can't help, as human beings, but be affected by the unrest in this country."

Deputy Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton, a former UCLA football star and a deorated veteran of World War II, said the outcome "expresses the feelings of the jury and their attiude toward this type of crime." The state had called Sirhan a cold-blooded political assassin.

Adel's eyes glistened, but he held a tight smile. In the crush of newsmen he seemed a forlorn figure as he tried to telephone his mother, who was by her radio at home in Pasadena with another of her five sons. The line was busy.

In the 66 court days since the trial began Jan. 7, the jury heard 90 witnesses, saw 154 exhibits, and listened to testimony that covered 9,000 pages of transcript. The jurors deliberated nearly 17 hours before returning the verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree last week. They went back into their little deliberations room Monday afternoon to choose between San Quentin's apple-green gas chamber, or a lifetime in prison —a verdict that theoretically would have permitted parole in seven years.

Wednesday morning, at 11:35 court clerk Alice Nishikawa read from the white official form the verdict that put an end to the tension that gripped judge, attorneys and spectators and the ashen-faced defendant:

"The People of the State of California vs. Sirhan Bishara Sirhan. We, the jury in the above-mentioned action, having found the defendant Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, guilty of murder in the first degree, as charged in Count 1 of the indictment, now fix the penalty at death."

Chronic Mucuous Not Cancer Cause

The DOCTOR Says

Q — Are people who have spastic colitis prone to have a high cholesterol level? Will chronic colitis cause cancer?

Dr Brandstadt

A — There is no connection between colitis and the blood cholesterol level. Chronic mucous colitis will not cause cancer but chronic ulcerative colitis often does.

Q—I am on a bland diet because of colitis. How long will I have to stay on this diet? Does colitis ever clear up? Would a highball mixed with water affect my colitis?

A—Although persons with colitis must curb their intake of roughage, the amount they can tolerate varies with the severity of the disease. Some can take the equivalent of one or two well - cooked prunes a day.

Raw vegetables and fruit are at last twice as irritating, ounce for ounce, as cooked. With careful management colitis can be controlled and the diet liberalized, but this takes time and most victims have to use caution in selecting their diet for the rest of their lives. Distilled spirits in moderation usually have no harmful effect on the bowel. The same cannot be said for fermented beverages.

Q — My doctor wants me to take a bland diet for colitis but he did not say what foods to eat or avoid. Is whole wheat bread considered roughage?

A—A truly bland diet contains no fruit, vegetable or bran. Whole wheat bread contains bran.

Q — Why do doctors sometimes take out one's appendix when they remove the gall bladder?

A—It is common practice for a surgeon to remove the appendix even though it is normal when he has to open the abdomen. This procedure is safe and relatively easy and avoids having to remove it later if appendicitis should develop.

Q — What are Aventyl pills given for? Can one take them for a long period?

A — Nortriptyline (Aventyl) is an antidepressant. Anyone who takes this drug for a long time should have a periodic checkup.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Indications Rise In Paris DeGaulle May Quit Soon

PARIS (AP) — Indications are mounting that this may be President Charles de Gaulle's last week in office.

The 78-year-old French leader has said he would resign immediately if the referendum Sunday votes down his proposal to transfer some of the central government's powers to regional administrations and reduce the Senate to a consultative role.

The newspaper Figaro published a poll today showing that for the first time since De Gaulle made his resignation threat, opponents of the constitutional changes outnumber supporters 53 per cent to 47 per cent. As recently as March 31, polls showed 56 per cent planned to vote yes in the referendum.

The switch came after De Gaulle's televised address linking his political future to the little understood, 38-page reform bill.

De Gaulle himself indicated doubt Wednesday about the outcome when he told his Cabinet at the end of their weekly session: "We'll meet again—in principle—next Wednesday."

The merits of the proposed changes have been overshadowed by the question of confidence in De Gaulle's stewardship, which is exactly what he intended. The threat of defeat has spurred the Gaullists to frantic new efforts, but most voters still appear apathetic about the referendum and the future of the 11-year-old De Gaulle epoch.

The president will broadcast another appeal for support Friday night. His traditional argument, "De Gaulle or chaos," appears to have lost much of its force due to the lack of threat from the left and the prospect of a replacement for the old man.

De Gaulle's resounding victory in the legislative elections last June came in the wake of six weeks of student violence and labor strikes that scared the middle class into the arms of the Gaullists.

Memories of those hectic days have faded and the parties of the left are in disarray, obviously posing no threat to the established order. And the argument that no one can replace De Gaulle is offset by the comeback being made by former Premier Georges Pompidou, now regarded as a strong candidate to succeed De Gaulle.

Middle class voters, at odds with De Gaulle on economic and monetary issues, generally have supported him out of fear of the Communists. Now Pompidou, a former Rothschild banker, is waiting in the wings to provide an orderly succession.

Scully Leaps From Brown To Bras

Television is so intimate a medium that we tend to label and pigeonhole personalities and are rather astonished when they appear out of context.

Cecil Smith

The other morning, for example, after the "Today" show, on came one of those inane daytime game shows called "It Takes Two," and there as the master of ceremonies was red-faced Vincent Edward Scully. I would have been no more surprised to find Lawrence Welk playing bass with the Fifth Dimension.

-:-

SCULLY, as you probably know, is one of the nation's finest sportscasters. His quiet, relaxed manner and precise, literate descriptions of the Dodgers baseball games so delight Los Angeles fans that they carry radios to the stadium, refusing to believe what they see until Scully says it's so.

Moreover, Scully is an articulate, widely read man who knows as much about James Thurber as Babe Ruth and can discuss either with ease. He's to the hysterical, word-mangling world of sportscasting as Red Smith is to sports writing, refining the description of men in motion to the level of art.

But sportscasting is fundamentally male territory, as daytime TV belongs to women, and to leap from the world of brawn and beer to that of bras and bric-a-brac seems so radical that I dropped by NBC's Burbank studios to talk to the redhead.

FINDING HIM is a problem. Backstage at "It Takes Two" is a jungle of fire engines, elephants, belly dancers, college girls in a vat crushing grapes with their bare feet, a squad of ROTC cadets in close-order drill and various assorted teams of celebrities and their wives, such as the Sebastian Cabots, the Shelly Bermans, the James Drurys.

The show is credited as a Ralph Andrews Thing, which is an apt description. Scully asks guest celebrities for answers to such preposterous questions as the combined waist measurements of an elephant and a Playboy bunny to which the celebrities offer wild guesses and members of the audience guess which guesses are closest to the truth. That kind of thing.

"THE SHOW," said Scully, "is designed for young housewives in the 18-35 bracket and preschool children. You have James Drury for the housewife and the elephant for the kids.

"I play it straight, just as if I were describing a ball game. I don't play particularly to women. I try to keep the show rolling, keep it amusing, light — hopefully have a quick-witted guest like Sebastian Cabot to kid with.

"It's tough doing two jobs at once. We have to tape 25 shows in 14 days while the Dodgers are in town to carry us over when the club hits the road. That's the reason I'm doing it, you know. I want to get off the road. I want to get off the baseball wheel.

"WON'T GET ME wrong. This is my 20th year broadcasting baseball — and I love it as much as the day I started. But the road gets me down. Those endless days in hotel rooms in Cincinnati or Atlanta or St. Louis.

"I have three children — Mike is 9, Kevin, 7, and Little Erin is 7 months. I want to watch them grow up. Through a fluke in the schedule I had Easter Sunday at home. We went to the beach and had an Easter egg hunt. That was the first and only Easter I have ever spent with my family.

"Maybe this is a way to earn a living and stay home. At least, that's my goal."

The show has only been on the air since March 31, and there's hardly been time to test the housewife reaction. Most of the time, Vin has been on the road with the Dodgers. I asked if he'd had any word on the show in cities he'd visited.

"WELL IN HOUSTON," he said, "One of the umpires came over and told me he watched the show every morning and liked it."

Vin paused. "They tell me," he said, "the show is for housewives and preschool kids. I wonder if they should include umpires."

Razing Plan Is Lauded At Midland

A commendation for the Midland Municipal Authority for progress on preliminary plans for housing was given by Midland Council President William Vinovich at a Council meeting Wednesday night.

The Authority has awarded contracts for razing three substandard houses on sites being considered for housing or parking lots.

A Beaver County Housing Authority inspection team is currently surveying Midland to determine if the borough qualifies for housing funds. This is the initial step required in applying for federal assistance.

Council at its March 12 meeting requested the inspection. Mayor Eli Corak said the administration plans to apply later for low income housing projects, but at the present, the borough's best chances are for housing for the elderly.

Vinovich said a lot near the 1st St. School owned by George Studen will be razed soon. Studen is negotiating for the sale of the property. He is constructing garages on Beaver Ave. and plans to remove equipment now stored along the Midland Ave. site to the new location, it was revealed.

Vinovich announced applications are being received for employment at the Veterans Memorial swimming pool at the borough secretary's office beginning May 1, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Applicants must be 16-years-old, and have a work permit, which may be obtained at the superintendent's office at the high school. Jobs available include manager, assistant manager, checkers for the boys and girls lockers, concession stand attendants, cashier, baby pool attendant and life guards.

Life guards must have senior life saving certificate.

The secretary was authorized to write a letter of congratulations to Maxine Anderson of Midland, a student at the University of Indiana, who was recently named Miss University of Indiana, and will compete in the Miss Pennsylvania pageant in May.

Don Bertran, engineer for the Michael Baker Jr. Civil Engineering Inc., said gids for the new packer truck will be advertized twice in the newspaper May 1 and 8.

A request by Rolando Cerasi of 1051 Beaver Ave. to cut the curb in front of his home for a driveway was turned over to the engineer.

Tests for a patrolmen and sergeants eligibility list will be given as soon as the test forms are received from the Civil Service office.

Council members went to the Leavell Funeral Home in a group immediately after the meeting to pay their respects to the aunt of Councilman Leonard Ware. Mayor Corak and Atty. Robert Masters, borough solicitor, were absent. They are attending a meeting in Harrisburg.

Warning Issued On Dumping In Borough Sewers

Midland Fire Chief William Monac Jr. issuer a warning Wednesday concerning the dumping of any flammable liquids into sewers. He said liquids such as gasoline, paint thinners and alcohol are highly dangerous.

He said he has received numerous complaints of fumes in homes, especially in the area of the Carnegie Library and 9th St. He said residents are now doing their spring cleaning and may be dumping the liquids into the sewers.

Monac said the fumes enter homes, and if enough accumulate, a fire could result. The best place to dispose of these liquids is in a dirt area where they can be absorbed or evaporate, he stated.

Monac also said he is checking the abandoned gasoline stations in Midland. There is a law that underground tanks must be filled with sand, concrete or removed within 90 days after they cease to be used.

Cape Town Resists Aparthied Attempt

Recently, the council defied a directive from the Cape Provincial Administration to erect "Whites Only" notice boards at six public playgrounds.

Last year, it refused to put up signs reserving most of the seaside city's beaches for whites. Many of the beaches are traditionally multiracial. The Provincial Administration had to erect the notice boards itself and charge the costs to the municipality.

BULLETIN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new clash broke out between Palestinians and troops in Lebanon today and four persons were reported killed despite a state of emergency designed to keep the nation calm.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Beirut and five other major Lebanese towns are under curfew today, and a state of emergency is in force throughout Lebanon following a day of riots in which at least 11 people were killed and 62 were wounded.

The nation's 15,000-man army patrolled the streets, guarded key installations and kept thousands of Palestinian refugees in their camps.

The strict security measures were taken to prevent funerals for victims of Wednesday's violence from turning into bloody antigovernment demonstrations. Thousands of Palestinian refugees in the southern city of Sidon threatened to defy the curfew to attend the burials.

Premier Rashid Karami considered resigning but was persuaded by Cabinet colleagues to remain in office, government sources reported. He made a dramatic midnight appeal for national unity and pledged the government would take all necessary measures to maintain law and order.

The premier said the entire country supports the Palestinian cause and noted that the government approved a new conscription law Wednesday night.

Lebanon's population is about half Christian and half Moslem, and the government generally has tried to steer clear of involvement in the Middle East fighting.

In line with this, it has tried to prevent Palestinian commandos from using Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel, but in reprisal for an Arab attack on a Israeli El Al airliner at Athens last December, Israeli commandos attacked Beirut International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Refugees who fled to Lebanon from Palestine in 1948 and their offspring now number 160,000. They are fierce supporters of the Arab guerrilla movement, and many Lebanese students back them.

Refugees and students, many of them armed, surged through the streets Wednesday demanding that the government give Arab guerrilla fighters freedom to use Lebanon as a base for operations against Israel. They battled security forces in Beirut, the southern city of Sidon and the village of Barr Elias in the Bekaa Valley. Two of the dead were members of the security force.

Warren Hailed By Nixon At White House Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, accepting a White House salute from one-time political foe Richard M. Nixon, says he will leave his post "without malice in my heart toward anyone."

Warren, who retires in June, was hailed Wednesday by the President at a black tie dinner at the White House, where champagne toasts washed down some bitter memories.

Among the 108 guests Nixon gathered to honor Warren's 50 years of public service, were the chief justice's family, friends, court colleaguees, government officials and seven men often mentioned as candidates for the top seat on the Supreme Court.

Nixon, however, concentrated on providing a warm farewell in advance for Warren, who plans to step down at the end of the current court term in June.

Before his 1953 appointment as chief justice by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican Warren was a political power in California, serving in several state offices, including three terms as governor.

Ring Of Telephone Infuriates Doggie

The kitchen phone is hidden in the pantry. There's another in a clothes closet, and to use the one in the basement, you have to stand on a box.

Creech made the changes because his fox terrier becomes infuriated every time a phone rings.

He chews insulation off the wires and often snaps them in half.

After making repairs 10 different times, the telephone company notified Creech he would have to pay for them himself.

Fire insurance in its modern form originated following the great fire of London in 1666, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Hurricane Ill Wind That Did Some Good

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Hurricane Colleen was an ill wind that did some one some good.

It swept aacross the Southwest Pacific in February and ravaged parts of Noumea, New Caledonia; but it was a savior for the little New Zealand freighter, Matipo, 398 tons, which had been stranded on a reef 40 miles from Noumea for nine months.

Her owner, Capt. Athol Rusden, said that the force of the storm had lifted the Matipo clear of the reef.

Area Girl Earns Prize In Safety Slogan Contest

Cynthia Ross, a 14-year-old Beaver Local Public School students, was the Columbiana County juvenile winner in the Ohio Department of Highway's annual traffic safety slogan contest.

Cynthia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross of Bloomfield, submitted the slogan, "Stay Alert, Stay Alive, Say a Prayer Before You Drive."

Dean, editor of the Salem News, also won second place in the editorial competition in the annual statewide event.

The top adult winner in Ohio was Terry Shannon of Bellevue, a student at Bowling Green University, whose slogan was "Are You Driving Yourself To Death?" His award is a 1969 sports car and Ohio's No. 1 license plate.

The top juvenile winner was Cathy Sharrock of Cincinnati. Her slogan was "Safe Drivers Are Survivors." She received $35 cash.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The FBI has thwarted Michael Ragen Hall's elaborate plans to publicly resist the draft.

Agents Wednesday arrested the 18-year-old Columbus boy—an honor student at Ohio State University—on a charge of failing to register with the Selective Service System.

Hall, who says he is a conscientious objector, had planned a news conference, a rally on the Ohio State University campus and a march on the Federal Building here Friday as part of his public refusal to sign up for the draft.

The youth had sent letters to more than 1,000 area clergymen asking them to appear with him Friday at the draft board office, and has been busy organizing a student peace vigil on the OSU campus Friday at noon.

The United States minted 2-cent coins from 1864 to 1873 and 3-cent coins from 1865 to 1889.

total of U.S. helicopters reported lost in the war to 2,551.

One of the aircraft was hit while attempting to make a landing east of the A Shau Valley near the Laotian border. Seven U.S. troops were killed and two wounded. A second chopper was downed near the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon; two men were killed and one wounded.

The two helicopters raised to nine the number reported lost in the past 48 hours, with a total of 20 U.S. troops and eight South Vietnamese soldiers killed.

The weekly casualty summary announced today by the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands showed that American battle deaths increased by 12 last week, South Vietnamese combat dead increased 85, and 441 more enemy were killed than the week before.

The casualty totals last week were 216 Americans killed in action, 1,602 U.S. troops wounded, 329 government soldiers killed, 884 wounded, and 3,379 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

This brought the total casualties reported for the first eight weeks of the Viet Cong offensive to 2,360 Americans and 2,618 South Vietnamese killed in action, 14,321 U.S. troops and 10,207 South Vietnamese soldiers wounded.

Talks

the U.S. representative said: "Your side must recognize that no undertaking of importance with regard to South Vietnam can be carried out without the approval of the legitimate government of the Republic of Vietnam. Therefore, you must be prepared, as the government of the Republic of Vietnam is prepared, to begin the process of serious discussions among South Vietnamese of the elements of a political solution."

He said the United States will respect "whatever choice they make about their political future in a context free of compulsion and coercion."

"Progress toward peace," Lodge said, "can be hastened significantly if your side is prepared in the near future to engage in practical negotiations on mutual force withdrawals."

South Vietnam's Pham Dang Lam also declared that the mutual withdrawal of external forces was the key to a settlement. He linked the issue of withdrawal with a declaration that the Saigon government has no desire to annihilate those who are bearing arms against it.

Those who are fighting against the South Vietnamese government, he said, "will enjoy all the rights stipulated by the constitution for every citizen and they will have every opportunity of contributing to the reconstruction and edification of the country."

He rejected Viet Cong proposals for a peace cabinet and coalition government, saying this was contrary to the principle of self-determination.

Coalition Bill Sets Limit On School Aid Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, showing it can still call some legislative shots, has passed a bill limiting extension of federal aid to schools for two years.

In joining the Republican, the Southern Democrats brought about the defeat of the three year extension sought by their party leaders.

In past years, even during Democratic administrations, the Southerners formed with Republicans in a coalition to stop what they considered too liberal legislation.

House Democratic leaders found Wednesday they were powerless to stop the coalition even in this time of a Republican in the White House.

Besides limiting aid extension to two years, a move supported by President Nixon, the coalition, with help from a key northern Democrat, Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, also moved another step forward in its drive to provide lump-sum grants instead of funding specified programs.

The bill, sent to the Senate floor after three days of debate would bring together four programs which now require separate applications and separate grants.

Defeat of the House Democratic leadership on the bill was especially bitter because it went to great lengths to hold the southerners in line.

Democratic leaders, who met for several days with southern representatives had trimmed their own bill to meet demands.

But on the final roll call vote that put the Green-sponsored package over and sealed their defeat, they lost 235-84, with 60 Democrats deserting to the Republicans. Only nine Republicans supported the version backed by the Democrats.

The House then joined to give final approval to the bill 400-17.

The bill continues until fiscal 1972 the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that funnels more than $1 billion a year into school districts that have a high concentration of children from low-income families.

The bill also make funds available for library materials, experimental educational programs and aid to migrant and handicapped children. A total of $5 billion a year is authorized for the programs, but the actual money appropriated has been less than half that amount.

Car Dented, Dog Isn't In 'Collision' Here

Williams said the dog ran into his car and then dashed off, apparently unhurt.

After State Audit

'Proper,' Examiner Says Of Treasurer's Ledgers

LISBON — No accounting discrepancies were revealed in a state audit of the Office of County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge for the period April 1, 1966, to Jan. 25, 1969.

State Examiner Robert L. Hookey said the general ledger, journal of warrants issued and pay - in journal were properly maintained.

"As required by statute, the county treasurer has accounted for taxes collected twice annually for real estate and personal property," the examiner said. "No discrepancies were found in test checks."

Operating costs of the treasurer's office for 1968, last full year of the audit period, were $78,106, compared with $78,123 for 1967.

The examiner noted that the treasurer did not comply with the Ohio Revised Code in three instances — the $50,000 blanket bond for employes was not approved by him, he did not file an annual inventory except in 1967 and he did not maintain adequate records for sick leave and vacation.

The balance sheet for the end of the period showed assets of $1,977,990. A summary showed $59,221 in funds on hand; the following active funds on deposit — Citizens Banking Co., Salineville, $80,000; Firestone Bank, Lisbon, $143,912; Union Commercial and Savings, East Palestine, $50,000; Union Banking Co., Columbiana, $50,000; New Waterford Bank, $50,000; Farmers National Bank, Salem, $196,448; First National Bank, Salem $50,000, and First National Bank, East Palestine, $50,000; inactive funds of $113,000 in First National, Salem; $178,000 in First National, East Liverpool and $200,000 in First National, East Palestine. In addition, $746,409 was invested in U.S. treasury notes at 5¾ per cent interest.

Liabilities totaled $1,977,990, including $1,866,590 in the county auditor's fund ledger balance and $111,399 in outstanding warrants.

The report is available for public inspection in the offices of the prosecutor or auditor.

First Serious Streamlining Bid

House Speaker Delighted With Reorganization Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker John W. McCormack, never known in the past to favor congressional reorganization, says he is delighted that a serious effort is under way to streamline House procedures.

Several reorganizations bills have been introduced this session, but the first serious move toward getting an acceptable measure didn't come until Tuesday when House Rules Committee Chairman William D. Colmer, D-Miss., appointed a subcommittee to come up with appropriate legislation.

McCormack, D-Mass., said in an interview:

"I have asked them to come up with a reorgardization bill. I've been after them about it all along and I'm delighted that they're going to do something about it."

House sources said this is the first time the speaker has actively worked for a reorganization measure. In the past, they said, he never openly opposed such bills, but by refusing to put the prestige of his office behind reorganization efforts he virtually caused their defeat.

The subcommittee is headed by Rep. B. F. Sisk, a California Republican and includes Reps. Ray Madden, D-Ind. and Richard Bolling, D-Mo. All are advocates of reorganization.

The subcommittee will study all reorganization proposals at its disposal, including three bills introduced this session and proposals made in the past by Republicans.

Sisk says he intends to come up with a realistic proposal, one that will be acceptable to the most powerful elements in the House—committee chairmen.

In the past, Sisk said, reorganization supporters made the mistake of shaking up committee procedures too much, thus alienating the chairmen.

The reorganization drive has taken on a definite bipartisan aspect. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has joined McCormack in supporting reorganization. He said he was "delighted that progress is being made—it's very hopeful."

Besides the number of Republicans on the subcommittee, it is a GOP member's bill that seems most favored at this time. And that's a Democratic assessment.

Bolling said a bill introduced earlier this year by Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., seems most favored at the moment.

Smith's bill would permit a majority of a committee to have a special meeting called upon written request, thus circumventing some of the power now enjoyed by some iron-handed committee chairmen.

It also would allow any member at least one day to file a minority report on any given measure as a means of preventing the ramrodding of legislation to the floor without dissent.

It would allow committees, at their discretion, to permit televised broadcasing of a hearing "if they are transmitted as a public service without commercial sponsorship, and a witness does not object to the broadcasting of his testimony."

The measure also would provide a central data processing center, in cooperation with the secretary of the Treasury and the Budget Bureau, for use by congressmen in cost analysis and any other matter requiring computers.

Legal Gambling Interests Say Nixon Discriminates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal gambling interests are complaining President Nixon's program to fight organized crime discriminates against persons engaged in lawful betting operations.

Bookmakers in Nevada, where gambling is a legal and big business, said a proposal, backed by President Nixon, to increase the federal occupational tax on wagering from $50 to $1,000 was unfair and indicated they may fight it up to the Supreme Court as "unconstitutional."

If they do, it won't be the first time the occupational gambling tax has been there.

The Court ruled early last year that an illegal gambler couldn't be convicted for nonpayment of the tax if he claimed that by registering to buy the tax stamp he incriminated himself.

Justice Department officials said that decision neutralized the Internal Revenue Service in that phase of the racketeering battle but said other parts of the new measure "will get the IRS back into the battle against organized crime." The officials didn't say how the proposal would get around the high court decision.

It won't apply to government-operated sweepstakes such as the New York and New Hampshire state lotteries.

In Reno, North Swanson, owner of the Reno Turf Club, said the annual federal wagering tax stamp along with the 10 per cent wagering tax was conceived originally as a punitive measure rather than a revenue producer.

"It's obvious that we, the legal gamblers in Nevada, will have to get together and take this to the Supreme Court to get Nevada exempted," he said.

"The whole purpose of the tax is to fight illegal crime—which we are not."

A Washington area man who runs an illegal bookmaking operation asked how bookies like himself could be induced to pay $1,000 when few of them pay the $50 fee.

"Hell, I'd pay $5,000 for a stamp if they'd let me alone," he said. "But when the stamps first went into effect I can remember four guys who went ahead and bought them and within a year they'd all been arrested."

Treasury Department figures show sale of stamps in 1968 produced $416,000. The 10 per cent tax levied against gambling operations produced another $4.5 million—most of it, presumably, from legal operations in Nevada.

U.S. Agents Arrest 5 For Bogus Money

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Five men were arrested Wednesday in three cities on charges of distributing counterfeit $100 bills by U.S. Secret Service Agents who said they used information obtained through wiretapping.

Agents said the men were responsible for distribution of at least $150,000 in bogus bills to pushers in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. The arrests were made in Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburgh.

Arrested were Vincent Ferrari, 31, of Warrensville Heights, a Cleveland suburb; Leon Eldridge, 25, of Cleveland; Mario Guerrieri, 37, of Youngstown; Frederick Frem, 37, of Youngstown and Robert Cooper, 36, of Pittsburgh.

Wilmer K. Deckard, head of the Secret Service in Cleveland, said U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had authorized use of wiretapping in this case—reportedly the first such use since the Nixon administration ordered the use of court-approved wiretapping to crack down on organized crime.

Kent Students Vote Against Class Boycott

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University students have voted down a proposed four-day classroom boycott in protest of the suspensions of a group of demonstrators.

Results of Wednesday's balloting, announced early today, showed 2,459 votes for the proposed boycott coupled with a teach-in. There were 1,948 votes for a teach-in alone and 4,110 voted to do nothing.

Altogether, 8,615 ballots were cast on these and related issues. That is 45.7 per cent of the 18,900 eligible to vote—including 500 faculty members.

Other vote results:

Should the university drop the suspensions of students? yes 3,100; no 5,151.

Should the university use its influence to get criminal charges against the demonstrators dropped: yes 3,094; no 5,577.

Should the university reinstate the charter of the Students for a Democratic Society? yes 3,232; no 5,210.

Should the university return to enforcement of the student conduct code of November, 1968? yes 5,340; no 2,833.

Leaders of the Concerned Citizens of the KSU Community (CCC), formed last week to protest the administration's handling of student protest demonstrations, said the votes would be recounted to ensure an accurate count.

Thirty-two students were suspended by Kent State President Robert I. White for their part in a demonstration April 16. The demonstrators broke into a locked campus building where a hearing was being conducted for students suspended in an earlier demonstration.

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A check of the final National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association statistics shows that numerous players who were standouts, either in high school or college in the Tri-State area and are now in the pro ranks.

Cincinnati U.'s Oscar Robertson, now with the Cincinnati Royals, ended fifth in the NBA in total points and has a 24.7 average. Hal Greer of Marshall and Philadelphia was seventh with a 23.1 average, and John Havlicek of Bridgeport, Ohio State and Boston was 14th with a 21.6 mark. Jerry Lucas of Middletown, Ohio State and the Royals was second in field goal percentage to Wilt Chamberlain with a .551 mark. Lucas was also seventh in rebounds (Chamberlain was also the leader here) and scored 18.3 points a game. Robertson led the league in assists with 9.8 a game, and was fifth in free throw percentage with an 83.8 mark. Larry Seigfried of Boston, Lucas' teammate at OSU, led the NBA foul shooters with 86.4 per cent. Siegfried scored 14.2 points a game. Havlicek was ninth in assists and Jerry West of West Virginia U. and Los Angeles 10th. West hit 25.9 points a game, but missed 20 games due to injuries. Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green and San Francisco was fifth in rebounding.

Every NBA team except Atlanta and Phoenix had at least one tri-state product. Baltimore had Jack Marin of Farrell (15.9 ppg), Gus Johnson of Akron (17.9), John Barnhill of Central State (6.4) and Bob Quick of Xavier (3.1). Chicago had Bob Weiss of Penn State (6.6). The Royals, in addition to Robertson and Lucas, had Connie Dierking of Cincinnati U. (16.3), and Fred Foster of Miami (3.4).

Detroit had Howard (Butch) Komives of Bowling Green (11.4). Milwaukee had Wayne Embry of Miami (13.1) and Dick Cunningham of Canton (4.6). New York had the Dayton Belmont boys, Don May of Dayton (4.3) and Bill Hosket of Ohio State (2.6). Philadelphia, in addition to Greer had George Wilson of Cincinnati U. (8.8). San Diego had Stu Lantz of Uniontown (7.8) and Henry Finkel of Dayton U. (3.7). San Francisco had Ron Williams of Weirton and West Virginia U. (7.8), and Seattle had another Mountaineer, Rod Thorn (11.5).

In the ABA, Farrell's Willie Somerset, playing for Houston and New York, was seventh in scoring with a 23.8 mark. Roger Brown of Dayton was 12th and Fred Lewis of McKeesport 13th. Both playing for Indiana, they hit 21.0 and 20.3 respectively. Somerset was fifth in free throw seventh in assists. Stu Johnson of Clairton was fifth in three-point field goal percentage.

Manny Leaks of Cleveland hit 9.7 points a game for Dallas. Walt Piatkowski averaged 12.2 for Denver. Johnson led Houston with 19.2. Tom Thacker of Cincinnati added 5.4 a game for Indiana. George Stone of Marshall hit 15.7 for Los Angeles. Garry Bradds of Ohio State put in 18.7 a game for Oakland.

JOHN McLENDON of Cleveland State has turned down an offer to coach the Denver Rockets of the ABA and will stay as the coach at Cleveland State. McLendon was the first Negro coach in pro basketball when he handled the Cleveland Pipers of the old American Basketball League.

TOBY SMITH, Bubba Smith's 6-5, 265 little brother, has transferred from Michigan State to Southern California.

MARV KINSEY, who holds the East Liverpool High School record for the discus throw, has changed spring sports, with good success. Kinsey is a freshman in the junior college part of Valley Forge (Pa.) Military Academy this year, but Valley Forge has no discus program. So Kinsey switched to baseball, and Tuesday pitched a no-hitter against the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., winning 2-0. Kinsey is now 1-1 on the year.

Havlicek Gets 37 For Losers

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's John Havlicek said it the only way it could be said:

"Jerry West was fantastic and he really killed us."

Not only did the veteran star of the Los Angeles Lakers score 53 points against the defending National Basketball Association champion Celtics in their opening playoff game Wednesday night but he had 10 assists.

As it turned out, the Lakers needed all the West contributions to pull out a 120-118 decision and take a 1-0 lead in the best of seven title series.

"West was the difference, but with a two-point loss here in the opening game, I'm not going to change a thing," Russell said.

"It wasn't the 53 points that beat us, it was the 10 assists."

West's previous playoff high total was 52 points but not in a championship series. In eight previous seasons, the Lakers never have won the title, losing to Boston on five occasions.

Jerry played like a man with a mission before the 17,554 fans, hitting shots from 25 feet out and on several occasions driving in under Russell and coming back with a reverse lay-up.

"I suppose it's one of the greatest games I've ever played," West commented. "However, there have been games when I've scored a lot fewer points and still felt I helped the team more with assists and playing defense."

Havlicek, with 37 points, paced the Celtics who led 58-56 at the half and 84-82 in a game which saw the lead change hands 21 times.

The key came with less than two minutes to play when West hit two jumpers from the side for a three point lead at 113-110. Four times the Celtics cut the margin to one, but never again went ahead.

Elgin Baylor scored 24 for the Lakers while Sam Jones had 21 for the Celtics. In the rebound department, Russell collected 27 and Wilt Chamberlain 22. In their personal scoring duel, Russell got 16 points and Chamberlain 15.

"I'm sure Wilt must have intimidated some of their shooters," commentd Laker Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff of the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, who's playing his first season in Los Angeles.

Dodgers Down Reds

Koosman Blanks Pirates; Dierker Ends Astro Slide

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Dierker and Jerry Koosman have written off a couple of embarrassing numbers and replaced them with zeros.

Dierker braked Houston's seven-game skid Wednesday night with a two-hit 4-0 triumph over San Diego while Koosman cut a pre-game 9.00 earned run average down to size by hurling the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0.

Don Sutton, who started the day with a 7.04 ERA, spotted Cincinnati three early runs, then stopped the Reds cold in pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-3 victory in the only other National League action.

The Atlanta-San Francisco, St. Louis-Chicago and Philadelphia-Montreal games were rained out.

The Astros, humiliated by Cincinnati 14-0 Tuesday night, ended their seven-game losing streak as Dierker, 2-2, held San Diego hitless after the third inning. The Houston right-hander gave up an infield single by Ed Spiezio in the second and a single by Roberto Pena in the third, then retired 14 Padres in order.

Norm Miller doubled in the first inning and scored the only run Dierker needed on a single by Curt Blefary. A walk, singles by Miller and Joe Morgan and a balk by reliever Frank Reberger gave the Astros two more runs in the sixth. Another scored in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk to Miller.

Koosman, a 19-game winner for the Mets as a rookie last year, scattered five hits on the way to his first 1969 victory after two setbacks. The shutout lowered the left-hander's ERA to 4.41.

Cleon Jones stroked three hits, drove in one run and scored another while grabbing the NL batting lead with a .444 average. Jones' run-scoring single off Jim Bunning, after a double by Ken Boswell, sent the Mets ahead in the first inning. In the fourth, Jones doubled and scored on Ed Kranepool's single.

Sutton, clipped for a two-run double by Tony Perez in the first inning and a RBI single by Bob Tolan in the second, settled down to finish with a six-hitter and his first victory in three decisions. The loss snapped a three-game winning string for the Reds.

The Dodgers shot in front 4-3 with a four-run burst off Gary Nolan in the fourth and Ted Sizemore's two-run single in the eighth wrapped up their seventh victory in eight home games.

Williams Returns To Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams returned to a tumultuous welcome at Fenway Park, but the Hall of Fame slugger who now manages the Washington Senators seemed the man least affected by it all.

"It didn't really hit me that much," the great Boson Red Sox hitter of yesteryear said of the pre-game applause he received Wednesday, climaxed by a standing ovation as he strode to the plate to exchange line-up cards with his opposite number, Dick Williams.

"If was a fine reception, but I wasn't especially aware of the size of the crowd or anything—I really wasn't," Williams said.

Everyone else—even the writers with whom Williams had often feuded during his playing years in Boston—seemed more moved than he was by the warmth of the ovation he received from the big weekday turnout of 28,972 fans.

"You looked pleased," said one reporter who couldn't believe Williams' post-game nonchalance.

"Did I tip my cap or anything?" the manager shot back.

He didn't, though he did get out of character long enough to wave to the crowd at the request of photographers. He also seemed in good spirits as he smiled and joked with the scores of newsmen.

The last man to hit .400 greeted old acquaintances on the field and in the stands.

Williams reminisced about the day in 1939 when he first trotted out onto the field here as a gangling rookie destined for baseball immortality, and of the fabulous career which continued through 1960.

"Some of my fondest memories are here in this park," he said.

Then came the big ovation right before the game, followed by the part of the day which made him happiest of all—a 9-3 victory by his ball club.

Oaks, Pacers Win, Take 3-0 ABA Leads

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks and the Indiana Pacers each could wrap up their American Basketball Association division playoff titles Friday night, against New Orleans and Miami, respectively.

While the Pacers overpowered the Miami Floridians 119-105 Wednesday night, Oakland needed six free throws in the final three minutes to tilt the seesaw game against the New Orleans Buccaneers 113-107 for a commanding 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 Western Division final. Indiana also holds a 3-0 lead over Miami in the Eastern Division final.

Oakland's biggest margin was six points at the final buzzer after New Olreans had led most of the way. The Floridians, described by Coach Jim Pollard as "injured and tired," charged to within two points of Indiana at 74-72 in the third period in their most productive rally.

Chicago Wins In Milwaukee

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox have opened their second front in the American League war. But the troops. . .where are the troops?

The White Sox played their first of 11 transplanted home games in Milwaukee County Stadium Wednesday night with Gary Peters scattering six hits and Buddy Bradford rapping a three-run homer in a 7-1 victory over California. Artistically beautiful. A crowd of 8,565 paid to watch the game in 41 degree weather. Financially, not so beautiful.

In nine home-away-from-home games at Milwaukee last season the White Sox never drew less than 20,000 fans. The numbers inspired a return for 1969 and two new teams added two more games to the Milwaukee schedule.

It inspired Fred Haney, vice president of the California Angels, to suggest that the only thing preventing the White Sox from making a permanent move out of Chicago was their lucrative radio-television package.

That brought an angry retort from Arthur Allyn, owner of the Sox, who as much as told Haney to mind California's business and not Chicago's.

"I wish they'd get off that kick that we're going to move anywhere," snapped Allyn. "I've said it before. We're not moving to Milwaukee today, next year or ever."

Then, almost as if they were punishing the Angels for Haney's remarks, the White Sox whipped California before the 8,565 Milwaukee fans. Still, that was a mob compared to the 1,056 that watched the same two teams in Chicago the night before.

Elsehwere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore edged Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings, Kansas City nipped Seattle 4-3, Minnesota topped Oakland 7-6 and Washington whacked Boston 9-3. New York's game at Cleveland was postponed by cold weather.

The Angels pushed across a first inning run against Peters but nothing more. Chicago got that one back with some to spare in the fourth when Bradford's third home run of the year produced three runs.

Hits by Sandy Alomar and Carlos May produced another run in the fifth and Chicago wrapped it up with three more in the seventh, two of them scoring on a single by Luis Aparicio.

Mark Belanger, whose two-run homer had tied the game for the Orioles earlier, won it for Baltimore with a 10th-inning single against Denny McLain. That scored Ellie Hendricks, who had opened the 10th with a double ending a string of 21 consecutive batters retired by McLain.

Mike Cuellar allowed five hits in the first three innings and nothing after that to gain his first American League victory for the Orioles.

Chuck Harrison rapped a two-run pinch single in the bottom of the ninth that gave Kansas City its victory over Seattle.

Jerry Adair, whose inside-the-park homer had given the Royals their first run in the seventh, started the winning rally with a one out single. Pinch hitter Bob Taylor doubled and then Harrison delivered the runs with his ingle.

John Roseboro and Rod Carew tagged two-run homers leading Minnesota past Oakland. The Twins had two runs on Catfish Hunter's first two pitches when Ted Uhlaender, who had four hits, opened with a single on the first one and Carew followed with his homer. Carew also drove in two other runs.

Mike Epstein and Ken McMullen poled a pair of three-run homers and Washington belted Boston in Ted Williams' first appearance at Fenway Park as manager of the Senators.

Williams received a warm ovation from the crowd of 28,972 and the Senators reacted just as warmly to Sonny Siebert, making his first start for the Red Sox since coming to Boston in the trade for Ken Harrelson. He lasted just four innings, allowing five runs on seven hits.

Won't Return Medals

Olympic Ski Winners Defy Brundage Demand

CHICAGO (AP) — President Avery Brundage of the International Olympic Committee, demanding return of all Alpine skiing medals because they were tainted with commercialism in the 1968 Winter Games at Grenoble, France, was caught in a ground swell Thursday.

Earl Walters, president of the U.S. Ski Association, implied in Salt Lake City that the trail of commercialism leads throughout the entire Olympic program.

"You could probably eliminate all Olympic competitors on one score or another by sticking strictly to the rules," said Walters.

"The big difference between the skiers and other Olympic participants is that skiers make a little less effort to conceal it than some of the others.

"The truth of the matter is that all athletes in all Olympic sports are receiving financial aid from one source or another, even if its just from their grandmother, in order to prepare themselves from Olympic competition.

"There really isn't that much difference between government subsidy and industry subsidy."

Walters said he didn't think Brundage would be able to get the medals returned and that his attempt will "just create more problems."

Brundage said he has asked the Federation International du Ski (FIS) to reclaim Alpine ski medals won in Grenoble a year ago.

"It is obvious that Alpine skiing has not been properly controlled . . . and it is doubtful if it should be on the Olympic program," said the 81-year-old Chicago millionaire, IOC president since 1952.

Brundage said the future of the Olympic Winter Games will be considered by the IOC meeting in Warsaw, Poland, June 6-10.

Brundage said:

"Articles have been printed listing the payments made by ski manufacturers for Olympic medals.

"In nearly every Olympic Winter Games this sport has been surrounded by scandal and this is inevitable as long as many racers admittedly are in the employ, one way or another, of equipment manufaturers."

France's triple gold medal skier Jean-Claude Killy, said in Paris, "Let Brundage come over here himself and take the medals from me. He would have to go to my home town of Val d'Isere to get them—and I've got a lot of friends there."

Wrestling Tourney Slated

Beaver Local Announces Football, Hoop Schedules

Football and basketball schedules for 1969-1970 were approved at the Beaver Local High School Athletic Association meeting last night.

It was decided to keep ticket prices the same for next season, $1 for adults and $.50 for students. An eight-team wrestling tournament has been scheduled at Beaver Local for next winter. Varsity officals pay has been raised to $17.50 a game.

The current balance of the association is $2,577.42, with an estimated $1,628 in bills due yet this year. With $2,960 needed to start football next fall, the association is looking to raise some money. One project is a pro wrestling show to be held at the school May 10 at 8:45 p.m. featuring George Steel vs. Batman. Tickets are $2.50 and $1.50 and will be sold at the school, Heimie's and Potter Lumber.

The 1968-69 basketball season showed a profit of $1,120.59. Wrestling showed a loss of $1,017.78, including $800 yet due on the new mat. It was pointed out that wrestling boosters contributed considerably to wrestling expenses by buying much of the new equipment and paying about $300 of tournament expenses.

Track expenses to date have been $236.78, baseball expenses $224.112 and golf expenses $10.

The football schedule for 1970 will be the same as in 1969 except that Wellsville will be moved from the last game to the fifth game.

ANN LANDERS

God Called 'Everyman'

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your cavalier treatment of the question from "that nut" who asked if it was true that God is a Catholic, a Negro and a Democrat, was, in my opinion, undeserved.

You should have told the inquirer that God is indeed a Catholic, a Negro and a Democrat. He is also a Hindu, a Jew, a Protestant, Chinese, Japanese and Indian — a Republican, a Socialist and an Independent. He speaks Spanish, Portuguese, Swahili, Russian, German, French, Italian and Thai.

God is a priest, a rabbi, a minister, a merchant, a miner, a farmer, a truck driver, an artist, a physician, a laywer, an architect, an engineer, a musician, a bootblack and a bank president. He is Everyman.—ONE WHO READS YOU OFTEN.

Dear O One: I'm pleased that you read me often. I wish you'd write often. Thanks for a superb letter.

In Time

Dear Ann: Because of so much emphasis on emotional problems and psychiatry these days, a great many parents blame themselves when their children behave obstreperously and get into trouble. I hope you'll print my letter, which proves that parents aren't always at fault.

Lynn is now 4 years old. When I brought her home from the hospital she was screaming. She kept it up 10 to 14 hours a day until she started to walk at age 7 months. The doctor gave ME tranquilizers.

At age 2 Lynn was taking the curtains off the windows regularly between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. She tore up everything in sight, including our wedding album.

I was ashamed to take her in public. She was always covered with cuts and bruises from self-inflicted injuries. She looked like a battered child.

Family and friends told me I was too strict, too lenient, too attentive, not attentive enough. I was loaded with guilt — convinced it was all my fault.

One day Lynn banged a gash in her head when I insisted that she take a nap. She needed stitches so I rushed her to the doctor's office. When I told him about the child's impossible behavior he had her tested the next day.

The tests revealed that Lynn was a hyperkinetic child. This is a congenital defect, the cause of which is not known.

Thanks to a wonderful doctor, new drugs and therapy, Lynn is well on the way to being a normal youngster. The doctor has said that in a few months she'll not need either drugs or therapy.

If I had taken Lynn to a doctor earlier she would have received help earlier. And time is very important. A friend of mine has a son 7 years old who just started treatment and it might be too late. The boy is already severely emotionally disturbed.

Tell mothers everywhere that if they see these symptoms in their child to run, not walk, to the nearest clinic which does testing. — GRATEFUL.

Dear G: I've printed other letters on this subject, but I'm pleased to print yours. Thank you for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ohio House Action Due On Lower Voting Age

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Ohio House probably will vote within the next two weeks on a resolution calling for lowering the voting age from 21 to 19.

The Senate resolution, which is sponsored by Sens. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton; Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay; Robin T. Turner, R-Marion, and Douglas Applegate, D-Steubenville, will be voted on by the Ohio electorate in November if the House, as expected, approves the resolution by a three - fifths majority.

The resolution was sent to the House rules committee Wednesday by the House state government committee, with the only two dissenting votes cast by Reps. Robert C. Carpenter, R-Tiffin, and Thomas A. Pottenger, R-Cininnati.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Bowling Green, chairman of the rules committee, said he forsees no difficulty in getting the resolution out and onto the floor within the next two weeks.

The Senate approved the measure Feb. 25 by a 30-3 vote. The same resolution was passed by the Senate two years, but failed to get out of the House state government committee.

Passage of the resolution is expected in the House, although the majority may not be as large as that in the Senate.

The biggest single factor in greater legislator acceptance of the lower voting age proposal this session is that the Rhodes administration has publicly endorsed the resolution.

Both parties also are on record as favoring a lower voting age in Ohio. The parties' national and state platforms contain planks spelling out their concern for lowering the age of suffrage.

If legislative opponents fail in stopping the resolution, it is expected that supplementary issues such as lowering the drinking age and allowing those under 21 to run for public office will be used to dissuade the voters in November.

An earlier Senate resolution designed to give legislative intent to lowering the age of majority met a quick death in a committee.

Sponsors and other proponents of the 19-year-old voting resolution have said there is no need to drag in other issues in deciding the fate of the measure.

But, statements such as were made in committee Tuesday by Carpenter could reflect the mood of many House members when the resolution hits the floor.

"I read the other day that one of the first things Hitler did when he took over was lower the voting age. Mussolini followed suit. I think this resolution will result in a ditatorship."

He said it in jest, but given the latest round of disruptions on the campus, even when the resolution passes the House, the lower voting age issue will face its sternest test in the months before the November election.

THE "GNOMON" KNOWS. This color-striped aluminum stick is scheduled for a trip to the moon with the Apollo 11 astronauts, who will frame it within their photographs of the moon so that scientists can compare its color with those of the lunar surface. It was developed by engineers at NASA's Manned Space Center in Houston, Tex., who call it a "gnomon"—Greek for "one who knows." A Hughes technician sprays the gnomon with inorganic paint which will resist ultraviolet radiation and withstand the moon's 250-degree temperature.

Symington Sounds Warning

Pentagon Fund Cut Seen Unless ABM Is Deferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington says Congress may cut Pentagon spending across the board unless the Senate Armed Services Committee defers deployment of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense system.

The Missouri Democrat spoke out Wednesday as the committee completed two days of public hearing on the proposed system to protect U.S. missile sites.

Symington said that in the past 22 years he had never seen the committee reject a single proposed weapons system.

"If on this particular system we can't just once show this should be deferred, I predict that the Senate will recommend —and very possibly the House also—a major across-the-board cut" in the $80 billion Pentagon budget, Symington said. He exempted the $400 million in missile defense research which he believes should continue.

Symington said the hearings had bolstered his position opposing Safeguard, but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., saw the sessions as strengthening the proposal. Eight witnesses appeared.

"All eight have some respect for it," Stennis said. "All eight argue it's the most advanced system we have despite its deficiencies."

To delay deployment, Stennis said, would "burn up precious time" needed to developing a defense against a possible Soviet threat in the mid-1970s.

Stennis also challenged Symington's contention the committee has always rubber-stamped Pentagon requests for new weapons systems. He noted some funds were blocked for the controversial TFX fighter-bomber and the Nike-Hercules, one of the first antimissile systems.

There will be three or four weeks of closed hearing before the committee gets down to voting on the military procurement authorization bill, first of four with Safeguard funds. The measure probably won't get to the full Senate until mid-June at the earliest.

As hearings concluded, Symington said he had been fooled by intelligence estimates of a "bomber gap" and a "missile gap" in the 1950s. Now, he said, the Pentagon is trying to convince the committee the giant Soviet SS9 missile is intended to have a first-strike offensive capability.

Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of Rockefeller University and the National Academy of Sciences, told the committee Wednesday: "The SS9 gives them a great deal of capability." Another witness, Prof. Albert Wohlstetter of the University of Chicago said the crucial thing is that the SS9 is being equipped with multiple warheads.

Testifying against the ABM were Abram Chayes, Harvard law professor and former State Department legal advisor, and Dr. George Rathjens of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who are writing a report on the ABM at the request of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Rathjens said a Pentagon briefing on the ABM had only served to confirm his opposition to it.

"Safeguard in defense of Minuteman would be somewhat less effective than I thought it would be," Rathjens said.

In Old Testament times, Palestine was known as Canaan and Philistia because tribes of Canaanites and Philistines lived in the country.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROLLER SKATES

QUESTION: Why do the wheels of my roller skates whirl around so easily?

ANSWER: When two surfaces are dragged against each other, friction is created. Movement, such as that of a piece of metal revolving inside another piece, is thus slowed down. There are many cases where wheels must revolve very rapidly, such as the wheels of your roller skates. They can do this because of the ball bearings inside your skates' wheels. Notice that the ball in (1) touches the flat surface at only one small point. This reduces friction as it rolls. Inside the wheels of your roller skates are sets of small shiny steel balls (2). These are set in a frame so as not to touch each other. One part of the ball rests on the axis or metal bar going across the skate. The other part takes the weight of the skate and you above it. As the wheels whirl around (4), they spin on the rolling balls with so little friction that they allow you to move very fast. Another important use for ball bearings is in the hub part of your bicycle wheels. These allow the bike's wheels to turn very rapidly and make riding much more fun.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, April 24, the 114th day of 1969. There are 251 days left in the year.

In 1704, the first American newspaper to be printed on a regular basis, the Boston News Letter, began publication.

In 1800, The Englishman who invented the power loom, Edmund Cartwright, was born.

Also in 1800, the Library of Congress was founded.

In 1953, women voted for the first time in Pakistan as extra police protected them from male hecklers.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy put out a statement saying he bore full responsibility for the U.S. role in the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion in Cuba.

In 1965, rebellious army officers and civilians in the Dominican Republic seized control of two radio stations in Santo Domingo and broadcast their intention to oust the government.

Ten years ago—Argentina was trying to cope with river floods which had taken more than 100 lives.

Fluoridation Described As 'Gamble With Health'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An opponent to fluoridation of water supplies in Ohio cities has told the State Senate's Education, Health and Welfare Committee that research available on its safety is "unreliable."

Dr. George Waldbott of Detroit, called Wednesday night for a congressional investigation of doctors and others who advocate fluoridation as a health measure and other reasons. He said anyone supporting fluoridation was "gambling with the nation's health."

Waldbott, who admitted he had trouble being recognized by the nation's major medical magazines, warned against a "profluoridation" lobby, which he claimed was "partially sponsored by industry."

He said much research on the effects of fluoridation had been done by scientists for industry "whose results must coincide with industrial interests."

Walbott said he was a specialist in allergies and claimed that "self financed" research showed fluoridation of water had in some cases raised the possibility of cancer as a result of the chemical. He added that treated water adversely affects certain persons with kidney diseases, and in other cases, causes some skin diseases.

Earlier, proponent of fluoridation testified that its use in city water supplies would help cut down tooth decay of children.

In other action, the committee voted to recommend for passage a bill establishing the Mansfield State College.

The Senate Judiciary Committee heard testimony from a number of Ohio sheriffs who opposed certain provisions of a bill that would extend the authority of the Ohio Highway Patrol during civil disorders.

Sheriff Donald Thompson of Fayette County told the committee the Buckeye Sheriffs Aspresent wording of the bill. Thompson said he believed sheriffs should be the supreme law enforcement officer in a county. He said sheriffs should be given the authority to call in extra help during disorders rather than city officials.

The Senate received a bill Wednesday to establish an Ohio Public Facilities Commission which would issue revenue bonds for public capital improvements.

The administration - supported bill allow bonds to be issued, following approval of the General Assembly, for improvements in mental hygiene and retardation, state supported and assisted institutions of higher education, parks and recreation facilities.

According to one administration spokesman, the bill amounts to implementation of a $740 million bond issue approved by voters last November.

A related bill dealing with implementation of the bond issue passed the Senate 30-0.

It included an amendment that would require the state to pay 2.5 per cent annually on the principal of any approved bond issue.

Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D-33 Youngstown, said it would prohibit the state from rolling over notes while it awaits a more favorable climate in the bond market.

According to Carney, the state on one occasion paid $30 million in interest payments alone on short term notes while nothing has been paid on the principal of the bond issue.

In the House, a bill passed 91-1 which permits residents 65 years old and over to buy a permanent fishing license for $2.

Summer 1969 will mark the 100th anniversary of Maj. John Wesley Powell's perilous journey down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. The first explorer to brave the Colorado, Powell put the unknown canyon country of the Colorado River system on maps.

Flood Loss Already Tops $100 Million

By The Associated Press

Damage in part of the Midwestern flood zone was placed at more than $100 million Wednesday as Illinois and Iowa braced for the approaching crest of the Mississippi River.

The flood threat appeared to be over for Minnesota and Wisconsin, and officials were optimistic that damage in Illinois and Iowa would be minimal because of flood preparations.

The Army Corps of Engineers said damage for northern Iowa, eastern North Dakota, western Wisconsin and all but the southwestern edge of Minnesota was $109.4 million. They added that $7.5 million for emergency dike construction prevented an additional $145-million loss in these areas.

The Mississippi crested at 21.5 feet Wednesday at Prairie du Chien, Wis., without incident. Floodwaters there receded steadily today and upstream at LaCrosse, Wis., but 600 Wisconsin families still faced a period of waiting before they could return to their homes.

Lowland streams rose in New England hit by heavy rains earlier this week, and a dozen families were evacuated from a trailer park in Brattleboro, Vt., as the Whitestone River flowed over its banks.

And the Weather Bureau has warned of a substantial rise in the Connecticut River, which flows through Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Crop damage rose in California's San Joaquin Valley as snow melting from the Sierra Nevada covered 75,000 acres of barley, cotton and safflower. Damage was placed at $10 million. Another 25,000 acres of crops could be inundated, officials said.

Hospital Treats Boy, Woman After Mishaps

A city woman injured on a car door and a Chester boy hurt in a fall were treated at City Hospital Wednesday and released.

Mrs. Patricia Bittner of Box 660 suffered a cut on the right index finger which became caught in a car door. Scott Wright, son of William Wright of 513 Florida Ave., received a bruise on the head in a fall at home.
